PART ONE

Playing the Turkeys

Everything the flock needs to know: who you are, how to roll, how to hide, and how to hold in a gobble when the farmer is close enough to tickle.

CHAPTER 1

It's Thanksgiving. Hide!

It's Thanksgiving morning on the farm. The sun is up, the frost is melting off the pumpkins, and inside the farmhouse the farmer is pulling on his boots and humming. The oven is warming up. The family is coming at four. The farmer is looking for a turkey. Any turkey.

You are a turkey.

In Don't Get Gobble Gobbled, each player is one turkey in a flock of friends. You can't fight the farmer, and you can't outrun him for long. What you can do is hide in the hayloft, sneak behind the cows, tip over the milk pails, let the goats loose and generally waste his entire morning, until it's far too late to roast anybody. Then the family eats something else, and the flock struts off into the sunset.

There's just one problem. You're a turkey, and when turkeys get nervous, they gobble.

How you win

The Dinner Clock counts down toward Too Late: the moment it's too late to cook a turkey in time for dinner. When it gets there, the farmer gives up, and the whole flock wins. Every round moves the clock on, and every prank you pull moves it on further.

How you lose

If the farmer grabs one turkey, the game ends at once. That turkey gets gobbled (this is a cartoon: it goes into the kitchen with a very surprised look on its face), and the whole flock loses, together. You could leave a slow friend behind to save your own feathers, but that's not how turkeys roll, and it wouldn't help: in this game, nobody wins alone.

Nobody is ever knocked out early, either. Everyone plays right to the end, because the end comes for all of you at once.

What kind of game is this?

A party game with a little roleplaying in it. Each player runs one turkey: what it does, what it says, and how loudly it gobbles. One more person is the Storyteller, who runs the farmer, the farm dog, the farmer's kid and the farm itself by following simple tables (Part Two). The Storyteller isn't playing against you; the dice and the tables decide what the farmer does. The Storyteller's job is to make him loud, silly and just a little bit scary.

- Players: 2 to 8 turkeys, plus the Storyteller.
- Ages: 8 and up. Younger turkeys can play with a grown-up helping them read.
- Time: about an hour with 2 turkeys, up to about 2 hours with 8, including 15 minutes of setup (Chapter 8 has the details).
- One night only: every game is complete in itself. Play it again next year on a different farm.

What you need

- Ten six-sided dice (d6): 3 white action dice, 5 red gobble dice, 1 helper die in any other color, and 1 die for the Storyteller (any color). Ordinary board-game dice are perfect.
- Printed from this book: the map and farm table of the farm you're playing (Chapters 9 to 11), a turkey card for each player, the Dinner Clock sheet, the tokens sheet, and the two reference sheets (At the Table, and the Storyteller's Card).
- Something to mark things with: a coin or paperclip for each turkey's urge, a coin for the clock, and the cut-out tokens (or coins and buttons) for the turkeys, the farmer, the dog, the kid, the decoy, the Feathers and the "Huh?" tokens. Cut them out before game night.
- A pencil, for ticking off pranks.

Chapter 12, Your First Night, walks through setting up and teaching the game.

THE WHOLE GAME IN ONE BREATH

Every round, each turkey does one thing: sneak, hunker down, pull a prank, save a friend, or let out a gobble on purpose. Then the farmer walks, looks for turkeys, and maybe finds one. Rolls use white dice for what you're trying to do and one red die for every point of your urge; any red 6 means you gobble, and a gobble tells the farmer where you are. If he spots you, your friends have one chance to save you before he grabs you. Get to Too Late with nobody grabbed, and you win.

The tone: slapstick

This is a comedy. The farmer trips over rakes. The goats get loose. A turkey hides inside a scarecrow and sneezes. When a turkey gets gobbled, it means dinner, but nothing in this book is ever gross or gory: being gobbled means a dramatic exit and some famous last words. Play it big, play it silly, and do the voices.

Party rules

SAY IT OUT LOUD

Whenever your turkey gobbles, you gobble too. Out loud. "GOBBLE GOBBLE!" Everyone else is allowed to gasp. This rule is always on.

STRAIGHT FACES (OPTIONAL)

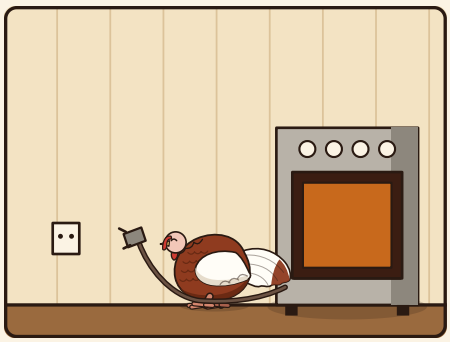

Decide before you start whether to use this one. While the Storyteller is doing the farmer's search ("Is there a turkey in the hayloft? Hmmm?"), turkeys are supposed to be very, very quiet. The first player to laugh out loud during a search raises their own turkey's urge by 1. It only happens once per search, it never makes a turkey gobble at once (if its urge is already 5, it simply stays at 5), and it's best for groups who enjoy being silly at each other. Skip it with very young players.

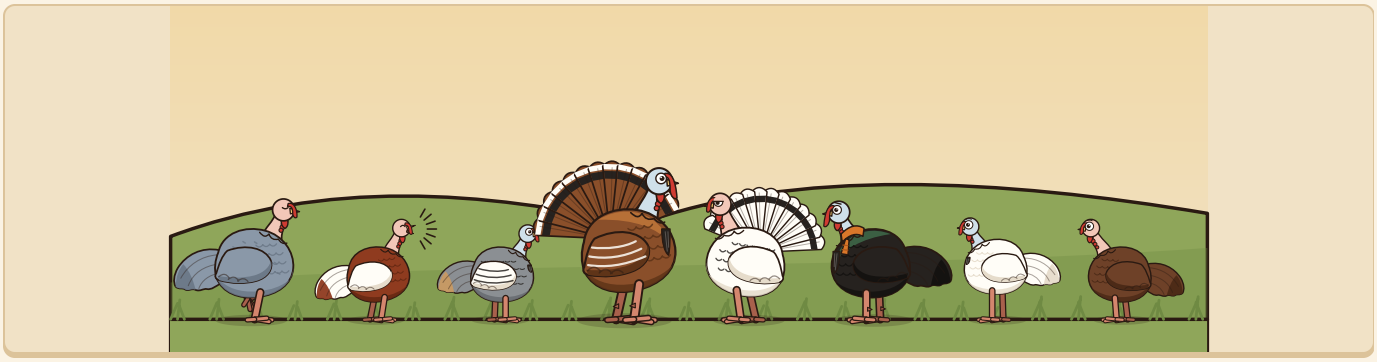

TURKEY TALK

- A tom is a grown-up male turkey: big, puffed up, with a beard on his chest.
- A hen is a female turkey: smaller than a tom, with no beard.
- A jake is a young male, still growing into his gobble.
- The floppy bit over the beak is the snood. It goes bright red when a turkey is excited. Today, it's bright red a lot.

DESIGNER'S NOTE

The best moments in this game happen when the farmer is right next to you, your urge is at 4, and you have to decide whether to stay perfectly still or make a run for it. Lean into those moments. Hold your breath. Look at the red dice. Then roll.

CHAPTER 2

Meet the Flock

Eight turkeys live in the Turkey Pen, and every one of them has a plan for today, a talent, and at least one very bad habit. Each player plays one of them.

Choosing your turkey

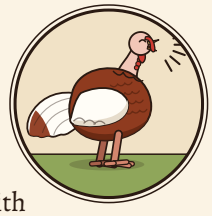

Every turkey is ready to play: there's nothing to build. Each has a knack (something it's good at, usually an extra white die) and a quirk (a nervous habit that gets it into trouble). Every turkey is different, and there's exactly one of each.

- Pick: each player picks a turkey. If two players want the same one, they each roll a d6; the highest gets it (roll again on a tie), and the other picks again.
- Or deal: shuffle the turkey cards and deal one to each player. This is quickest, and fun for a first game.
- Or roll: the cards are numbered 1 to 8. Roll two dice: the first picks a half (1–3: cards 1 to 4; 4–6: cards 5 to 8), the second picks the card in it (roll again on a 5 or 6, or if that turkey is taken).

With fewer than eight players, the turkeys nobody picked stay in the pen, asleep, and aren't part of the game. You can rename your turkey or draw your own version of it on the card; its knack and quirk stay the same.

Where a knack or quirk says something different from the general rules, the knack or quirk wins.

Butterbean

"Five minutes. Give me five minutes and that oven is off. Did I tell you about the oven?"

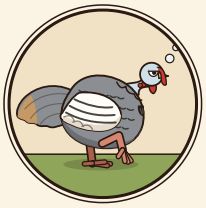

A Bourbon Red hen: chestnut feathers with white wings and a white tail. Butterbean is the busiest beak on the farm. If it can be pecked, unpicked, untied or unplugged, she's already on it, and she'll tell you all about it while she works. She never stops talking. Not even while hiding.

KNACK: BUSY BEAK
+1 white die when you pull a Prank, and when the roll works it ticks two boxes.

Quirk: Chatterbox +1 urge after any roll where you Lend a Wing, or a friend Lends you one.

Play her: send Butterbean to the big pranks. Only Lend her a Wing (or ask for hers) when it really matters.

Pip

"I can be very quiet. Hic. Mostly."

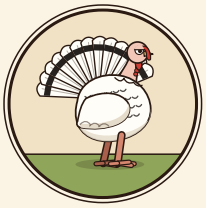

A Narragansett jake: steel-gray, black and tan, with barred wings. Pip is small, light on his feet and very good at tiptoeing. He has had the hiccups since Tuesday.

KNACK: SOFT STEPS
+1 white die when you Sneak, and one Sneak can take you two zones (one roll covers both).

Quirk: Hiccups At the end of every round, roll one red die: on a 6 you gobble (hic!).

Play him: Pip gets to pranks fast. Keep him away from the farmer at the end of the round, when the hiccups come.

Duchess

"I am not hiding. I am posing. Behind a cabbage."

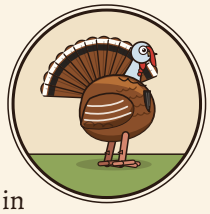

A Royal Palm hen: snow-white, with crisp black edges on every feather. Duchess can stand so still that the farmer once hung his hat on her. But whenever she does something brilliant, she simply has to strike a pose about it.

KNACK: STILL AS A STUMP
+1 white die when the farmer, the dog or the kid checks your spot, and your red dice don't count on those rolls.

Quirk: Show-off Whenever you roll a Great, you strike a pose: a "Huh?" token goes on your spot (or your zone, if you're in the open). A pose struck while the farmer searches stays down after he clears his tokens, so he'll be back.

Play her: Duchess can stay hidden almost anywhere, even right under the farmer's nose. Keep her away from friends' spots when she's rolling for something flashy.

Big Tom

"OI! FARMER! OVER HERE! ...Is he coming? He's coming. Hide me."

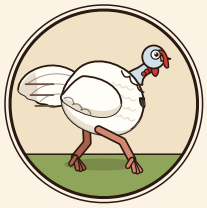

A Bronze tom: shiny copper feathers, a huge fan of a tail, and the loudest gobble in three counties. Big Tom is the flock's bodyguard. He is also, secretly, terrified of the farmer. And the dog. And small mice.

KNACK: BIG GOBBLE
+1 white die when you Gobble for a Friend, and you can do it from two zones away (two paths).

Quirk: Scaredy A Close Call happens to you when the farmer or the dog ends in your zone or next to it.

Play him: stay within two zones of your friends, so you can bellow the farmer away when someone gets Spotted, but not right next door to him.

Noodle

"Can we go now? Now? How about now?"

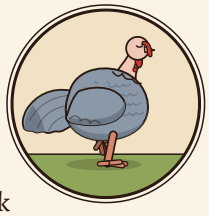

A White Holland jake: all white, all legs and all go. Noodle is the fastest turkey on the farm and cannot sit still for one single second.

KNACK: QUICK FEET
+1 white die when you Scram, and a Scram that works can take you two zones (three on a Great).

Quirk: Restless You can't Hunker Down two rounds in a row.

Play him: Noodle is the turkey most likely to get out of trouble. On the rounds he can't sit still, a friend can Hunker Down for him, or he can let it out somewhere far from the farmer.

Clementine

"Breathe in. Breathe out. And please don't stand on my tail feathers."

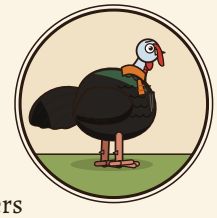

A Blue Slate hen: soft blue-gray from beak to tail. Clementine does turkey yoga every morning and can calm anyone down, as long as they keep out of her personal space.

KNACK: COOL HEAD
Hunker Down lowers your urge, or a friend's, by 3 instead of 2.

Quirk: Fussy +1 urge whenever you end an action sharing a hiding spot, or another turkey squeezes into yours.

Play her: park Clementine in the same zone as the twitchiest turkey, but not in the same hiding spot.

Gizmo

"Has everyone had a snack? Is everyone warm? Where's Pip? WHERE'S PIP?"

A Black Spanish tom: glossy black feathers with a green shine. Gizmo is a big soft tom who looks after the whole flock like a mother hen, and he frets terribly whenever anyone is in trouble.

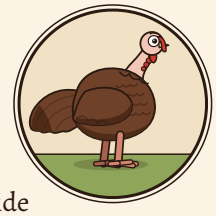

KNACK: MOTHER HEN
When you Hunker Down, every other turkey in your zone lowers its urge by 1 too.

(A friend you calm with that Hunker Down gets the usual −2, not −3.)

Quirk: Worrywart +1 urge whenever another turkey is Spotted.

Play him: Gizmo is best in the middle of a crowd: one Hunker Down calms everybody.

Hazel

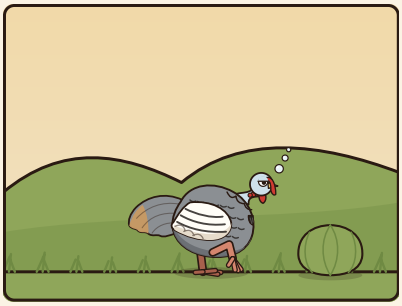

"He's going to the barn. I know because I watched him. WHO GOBBLED?"

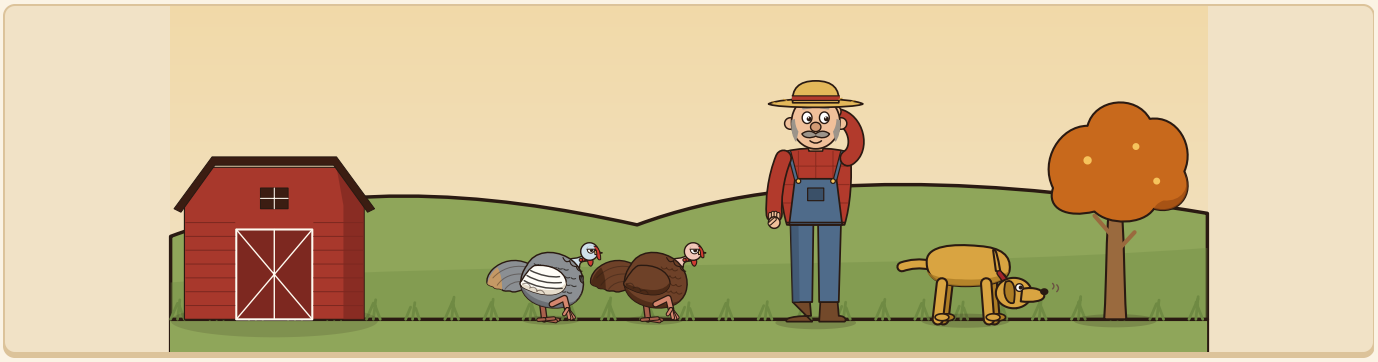

A Chocolate hen: rich brown feathers, wide eyes, and a habit of peeking over things. Hazel always knows where the farmer is. She jumps out of her feathers at every gobble, though.

KNACK: KEEN EYE
From round 2, at the start of the turkeys' turn, the Storyteller rolls the farmer's route die and tells the flock where he'll walk if nothing else (a detour, a rake or a "Huh?" token) decides it. If he's moved first, read the roll on his new zone's route line. Close Calls don't raise the urge of turkeys in your zone.

Quirk: Jumpy +1 urge whenever another turkey gobbles.

Play her: listen to Hazel. Then move.

CHAPTER 3

A Round on the Farm

The game is played in rounds. In each round every turkey gets one go, then the farmer gets his, then the clock ticks on. Repeat until somebody gets grabbed or it's Too Late.

The round

1. The turkeys' turn. Every turkey takes one action (below), in any order the flock likes. There's no passing: Hunker Down is how a turkey stays put. Talk it over: whoever is doing something risky usually goes first, so friends can help if it goes wrong. Each player decides what their own turkey does, and once a turkey has acted, it's done for this turn.
2. The farmer's turn. The Storyteller moves the farmer, the dog and (in a big flock) the farmer's kid, and they look for turkeys (Chapter 7). In round 1 the farmer is still indoors pulling on his boots, and there is no farmer's turn at all. For the whole of round 1, he, the dog and the kid don't count for anything: no Sneak needs a roll because of them, and nobody can be Spotted. Gobbles and failed Sneaks still put "Huh?" tokens down: he can hear them from the kitchen. Nobody may go into the Farmhouse in round 1, either. That's your head start: scatter!
3. The end of the round. The Dinner Clock moves down one space (Chapter 6); if that makes it Too Late, the flock wins and nothing else happens. If it lands on an EVENT space, the Storyteller rolls the farm event now. Then every turkey that isn't Spotted raises its urge by 1 (Chapter 4), and Pip rolls for his hiccups.

The roll

Many actions need a roll. Every roll works the same way.

- Take 1 white die. That's your action die: it says whether you pull it off.
- Take one red die for every point of your urge. At urge 0 you roll no red dice at all; at urge 5, five. These are your gobble dice.
- Roll them all together.

Read the white dice. Every roll has a target, written like 4+. If your highest white die is at or above the target, it works; if not, it fails. Any white 6 is a Great: it works, and some actions give you a little extra.

Read the red dice. If any red die shows a 6, you gobble. It's one gobble however many 6s there are. Chapter 4 says what a gobble does (nothing good).

The result comes first. Do what the white dice say (move, hide, tick a box), then deal with the gobble. If you sneak into the barn and gobble, you're in the barn, gobbling.

There are no rolls against the farmer and no rolls to beat each other. The target is the only number that matters, and it never changes in the middle of a roll.

Boosts

A boost adds one white die to a roll. Roll all the white dice and use the highest. A roll never has more than 3 white dice, however many boosts you could get. There are three kinds:

YOUR KNACK

Most knacks give +1 white die on one kind of roll (Chapter 2).

LEND A WING

A friend in the same zone as you can Lend a Wing on your roll: you add a white die, and your friend rolls the helper die (the one in the third color) along with yours. If the helper die shows a 6, your friend gobbles, not you. Lending a Wing doesn't use your friend's action (they can do it before or after their own go, and on rolls during the farmer's turn), but:

- only one friend can Lend a Wing on any one roll;
- if your dice and the helper die both show a 6, you both gobble: that's two gobbles, and it takes two Feathers to cancel them;
- a friend who Lends a Wing during the farmer's search is in his zone, so a 6 on the helper die makes the friend Spotted;
- each turkey can Lend a Wing only once per round (turn your card sideways to remember);
- a Spotted turkey can't Lend a Wing.

PUFF UP

Before you roll, you can Puff Up: raise your own urge by 1, and add a white die. Your new urge counts for this roll (one more red die), and it stays raised afterwards. You can't Puff Up at urge 5, and you can't Puff Up when you Gobble for a Friend.

EXAMPLE: A ROLL

Pip is in the Big Barn with urge 2. Farmer Bramble is in the Cow Pasture, which is next to the Cornfield. Pip wants to Sneak to the Cornfield. The farmer is next to the zone Pip is entering, so it's a roll, target 4+.

Pip's knack, Soft Steps, gives him a second white die. He Puffs Up too (urge 2 to 3) for a third. He rolls 3 white dice and 3 red dice: white 2, 4, 1, red 3, 6, 1. His best white die is a 4: it works. He creeps into the Cornfield and hides in the Corn rows. But there's a red 6: "Gobble… gobble?"

A "Huh?" token goes on the Corn rows, and Pip's urge drops to 0. The flock could spend a Feather to cancel the gobble, but they decide not to: the farmer is coming this way anyway, and with urge 0 Pip will roll no red dice at all when he checks the Corn rows. Feathers are best saved for gobbles in the farmer's own zone, which would make a turkey Spotted on the spot.

Actions

On the turkeys' turn, each turkey does one of these. A Spotted turkey can only Scram.

SNEAK

Move along a path to a zone next to yours. If a hiding spot there has room, you hide in it (you pick which); if not, you're in the open.

- Roll 4+ if the farmer is in or next to the zone you leave or the zone you enter. ("Next to" always means joined by a path.)
- Otherwise roll 3+ if the zone you enter is Noisy (hens, ducks, sheep: they make a fuss).
- Otherwise there's nothing to roll: you just go.
- If it fails, you still get there (and can still hide), but you're noticed: if the farmer is in the zone you end in, you're Spotted; otherwise put a "Huh?" token on your hiding spot, or on the zone if you're in the open.
- Great: you can keep going one more zone, if that move wouldn't need a roll of its own.
- Two zones at once (Pip's Soft Steps): check every zone you leave or enter, the middle one too, and use the highest target. You can't pass through the farmer's zone. A Great still adds one more zone.

HUNKER DOWN

Stay where you are and take some deep breaths. If you're in the open and a spot in your zone has room, you hide in it first; if the farmer is in your zone, that takes a 4+ roll, and if it fails you're Spotted. Then, whether or not you managed to hide, lower your urge by 2, or lower the urge of a friend in your zone by 2 instead. Urge never goes below 0.

You can't move from one hiding spot to another in the same zone: to change spots, Sneak out.

When you Hunker Down, tell everyone how your turkey calms down. Counting feathers? Humming? A tiny bit of turkey yoga?

PULL A PRANK

You must be in the zone where the prank is, and the farmer must not be. Roll; you need the prank's target. If it works, tick one of its boxes; a Great ticks two. When all of a prank's boxes are ticked, it happens (Chapter 6), and it's done for the rest of the game. You stay where you are, hidden or not. Ticked boxes stay ticked, so friends can finish a prank you started.

GOBBLE FOR A FRIEND

The bravest thing a turkey can do. Pick a Spotted friend in your zone or a zone next to it, and gobble on purpose, as loudly as you can, so the farmer looks at you instead. Each Spotted turkey can be the target of only one Gobble for a Friend per round, whether it works or not. If the rescuer ends up Spotted, that's a new Spotted turkey, and another friend can try for it.

- Your urge goes to 0. You roll no red dice and can't Puff Up, but your knack and a friend's Wing still count.
- Roll 4+. If it works, your friend is no longer Spotted (it stays where it is).
- Either way, the farmer turns toward you: if he's in your zone, now you are Spotted; otherwise a "Huh?" token goes on your spot.
- Great: he can't tell where the gobble came from. No token, and you aren't Spotted.

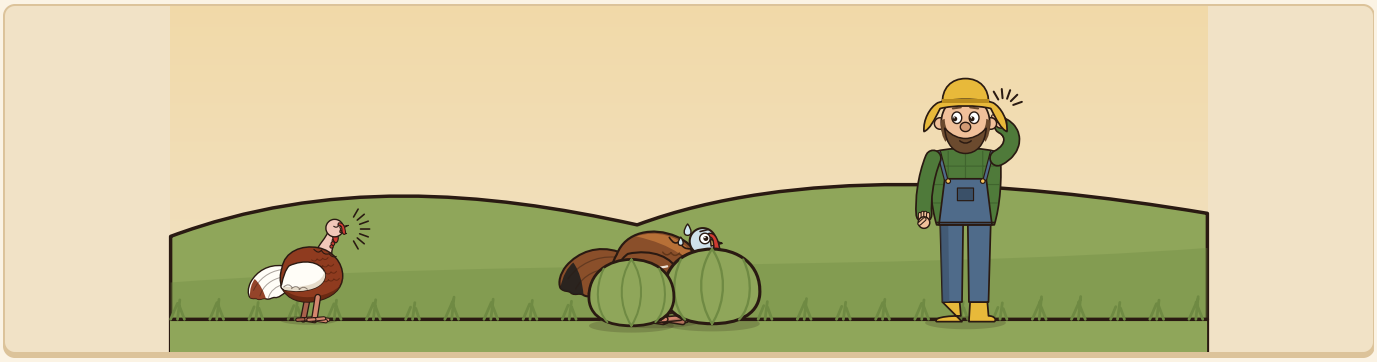

SCRAM

Only a Spotted turkey can Scram, and it's the only thing a Spotted turkey can do. Roll 4+ (5+ on Hard). If it works, run along a path to a zone next door, hide in a spot there if one has room, and you're no longer Spotted. A Great lets you keep running one more zone. If it fails, you're still Spotted, and your friends had better help.

LET IT OUT

Sometimes you just have to. Gobble on purpose: your urge goes to 0, and a "Huh?" token goes on your spot (or your zone, if you're in the open). The farmer will come and look. Do it where he's far away, or do it to pull him away from your friends. Don't do it in the same zone as him: that makes you Spotted.

CHAPTER 4

Don't Gobble!

"The trick is not to think about gobbling." "Now I'm thinking about gobbling." "GOBBLE."

Every turkey has an urge to gobble. It builds up all morning, and it gets much worse when the farmer is close. Too much urge, and a gobble slips out and tells him exactly where you are.

Your urge

Your urge is a number from 0 to 5, kept on your turkey card. Every turkey starts the game at urge 1 (it's Thanksgiving, after all). Your urge is how many red dice you roll (Chapter 3), so the higher it is, the more likely each roll is to end in a gobble.

URGE	RED DICE	CHANCE A ROLL GOBBLES
0	0	none
1	1	1 in 6
2	2	about 3 in 10
3	3	about 2 in 5
4	4	about 1 in 2
5	5	about 3 in 5

When your urge rises

Your urge goes up by 1:

- at the end of every round, unless you're Spotted (you have bigger things to worry about);
- at a Close Call: when the farmer, or the dog, ends his turn in your zone and you aren't Spotted (Chapter 5);
- when you Puff Up for an extra white die (Chapter 3);
- when your quirk says so;
- when a farm event says so (Chapter 7).

ONE THING, ONE RISE

Apart from Puffing Up and farm events, your urge rises at most once per action (yours or anyone's), once per farmer's turn and once at the end of each round, however many reasons there are. If the farmer and the dog both end up in your zone, that's still one Close Call and +1. A farm event is its own thing: a backfiring truck raises everyone's urge even if it just rose for something else, and so does anything the event sets off (a Jumpy turkey jumping at the gobbles it causes, say).

A FULL URGE

Your urge can't go above 5. If it's at 5 and something would raise it, you gobble instead, and it goes back to 0. A full-urge gobble can't be stopped with a Feather. Watch out: at urge 5 in the farmer's zone, the Close Call at the end of his search makes you gobble, and that means Spotted. Hunker Down before you get there.

CALMING DOWN

The only way to lower your urge, apart from gobbling, is to Hunker Down (–2, Chapter 3), have a friend Hunker Down for you, or get lucky with a farm event. Urge never goes below 0.

Gobbling

However it happens, a gobble always does the same three things:

1. Say it out loud. "GOBBLE GOBBLE!" (This is a rule.)
2. Your urge goes to 0. Ahhh. That's better.
3. The farmer hears it. If he's in your zone, you're Spotted (Chapter 5). If he isn't, put a "Huh?" token on your hiding spot, or on your zone if you're in the open. He'll come and have a look.

If a friend gobbles because of the helper die when Lending you a Wing, it's your friend who gobbles, from your friend's own spot.

GOBBLING ON PURPOSE

Two actions are gobbles on purpose: Let It Out and Gobble for a Friend (Chapter 3). They work like any other gobble, except that Gobble for a Friend has its own rules about whom the farmer looks at.

Feathers

The flock shares a little pile of Feathers. A Feather is a friend's wing clapped over your beak just in time.

- After any roll, if a red die (or the helper die) shows a 6, the flock can spend one Feather to cancel that gobble. Nobody gobbles, no token goes down, and the urge stays where it is.
- One Feather cancels one gobble. Feathers don't come back once they're spent.
- A Feather can't stop a gobble on purpose or a full-urge gobble. It can stop one of Pip's hiccups, which come from a die.
- The flock usually starts with 2 Feathers: Chapter 8 has the exact number for your flock size and difficulty.

Decide together whether to spend one. A gobble in the farmer's own zone, which would make you Spotted, is nearly always worth a Feather. A gobble anywhere else resets your urge and sends him looking, and often that's fine.

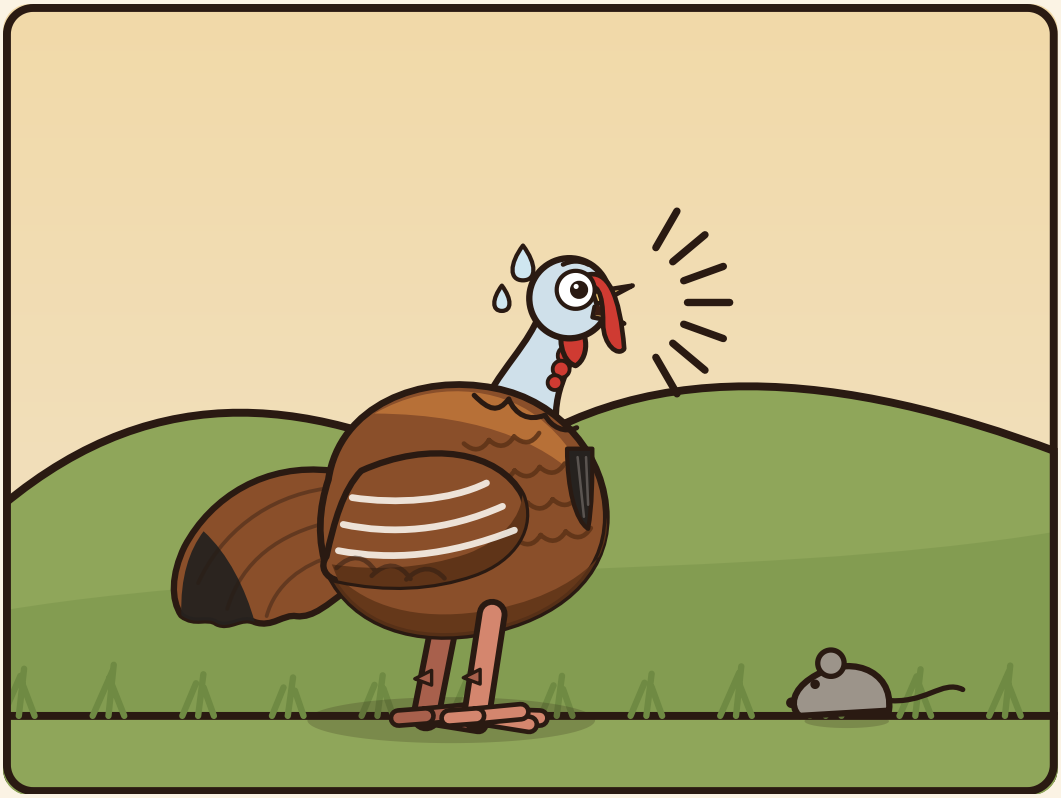

EXAMPLE: NEAR AND FAR

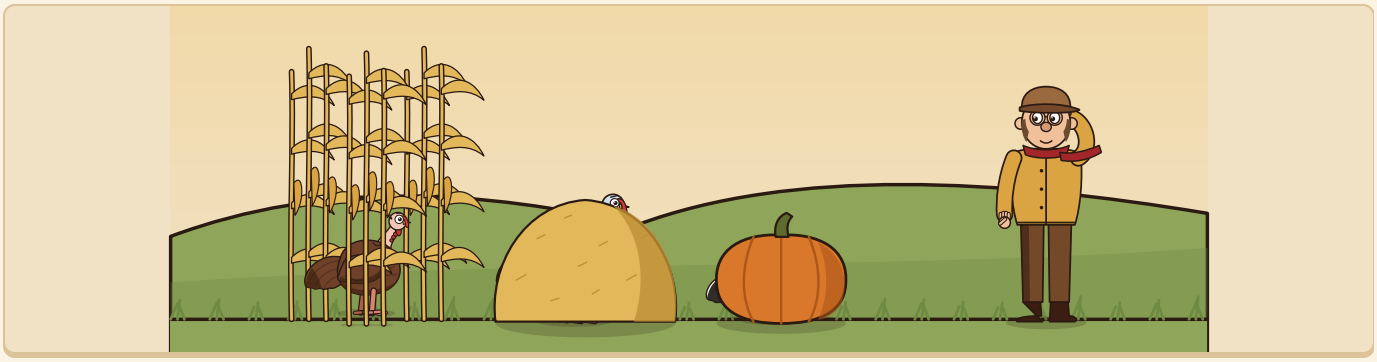

Clementine is Pulling a Prank in the Duck Pond with urge 2, and the farmer is far away in the Farmhouse. Her roll gobbles. The flock keeps its Feathers: Clementine's urge drops to 0, a "Huh?" token goes on the Reeds, and the farmer will start walking that way. That gives her a turn or two to move on.

Later, Noodle is hiding in the Hayloft when the farmer walks into the Big Barn and checks it. Noodle's white dice say he stays hidden, but there's a red 6. A gobble with the farmer in his zone means Spotted, so the flock spends a Feather straight away.

DESIGNER'S NOTE

A gobble far from the farmer isn't a disaster: it lets the steam out, and it can even pull him away from your friends. A gobble next to him is a disaster. Keep your urge low before you go anywhere near him, and Hunker Down before you have to.

CHAPTER 5

Hide and Seek

The farm is a big game of hide-and-seek, and the farmer is "it". This chapter is about where you can hide, how he finds you, and what happens when he does.

Each farm (Chapters 9 to 11) is split into twelve zones: the Big Barn, the Duck Pond, the Turkey Pen and so on. Your turkey is always in exactly one zone. Zones are joined by paths, shown on the map as orange gaps in the fence; you can only Sneak along a path. No path, no way through (that's a fence, a creek or a very grumpy goose). Two zones are next to each other only when a path joins them.

- Hiding spots. Most zones have a few places to hide: the Hayloft, the Corn rows, behind the cows. Each spot shows its cover, the roll you need to stay hidden when it's searched (3+ is safe, 5+ is risky), and its room, how many turkeys fit (×4 means four).
- Hidden or in the open. A turkey in a hiding spot is hidden. A turkey that isn't (no room, or nowhere to hide) is in the open. Turkeys can share a spot until it's full.
- Open zones have no hiding spots at all: anyone there is in the open.
- Noisy zones are full of hens, ducks, goats, sheep or pigs who make a fuss: Sneaking into one takes a 3+ roll even when the farmer is far away (Chapter 3).

Everyone looks at the map. The tables under each map (the farmer's route and search lines) are for the Storyteller. They aren't secret, but the farmer is funnier when he's a surprise.

How the farmer looks for you

On his turn, the farmer walks, then searches the zone he ends in (the Storyteller has the exact steps in Chapter 7).

- If a "Huh?" token is down somewhere, he heads for the nearest one, up to two zones a turn, and checks the spot it's on.
- If not, he wanders along his route and checks one hiding spot, chosen by a die roll.
- When he searches, everyone in the open in the zone he ends in is Spotted. He doesn't spot anyone in zones he only walks through.
- Every turkey in a spot he checks rolls to stay hidden: the target is the spot's cover. If the roll fails, or gobbles, that turkey is Spotted.
- Turkeys in the zone that he didn't find still have a Close Call: +1 urge.

YOUR CHANCE TO STAY HIDDEN

With one white die and no boosts. A boost helps a lot; so does a low urge.

COVER	URGE 0	1	2	3	4	5
3+	67%	56%	46%	39%	32%	27%
4+	50%	42%	35%	29%	24%	20%

"Huh?" tokens

A "Huh?" token is the farmer stopping, cupping a hand to his ear, and saying "Huh? What was that?". It goes down when:

- a turkey gobbles where the farmer isn't (on its spot, or its zone if it's in the open);
- a Sneak fails (on the spot the sneaky turkey ends up in);
- a turkey Gobbles for a Friend or Lets It Out (on its own spot);
- the dog sniffs out a turkey, or the kid spots one (Chapter 7);
- a loud prank goes off (on the prank's zone, Chapter 6);
- Duchess strikes a pose (her Show-off quirk, Chapter 2).

Tokens stay down until the farmer ends his turn in their zone and searches it. Then they all come off (except a pose Duchess strikes during that search). A turkey that Sneaks away from its token leaves the token behind, and the farmer will search an empty spot. That's the idea.

The dog and the kid

On Standard and Hard, the farm dog wanders the farm and sometimes follows its nose toward the nearest turkey. It never grabs anyone, but if it ends its move in your zone you roll 4+ to stay hidden (it doesn't care how good your spot is), and if you fail, it barks: a "Huh?" token on your spot. The dog gives you a Close Call too. The dog itself never makes anyone Spotted, but a gobble on its roll is an ordinary gobble: if the farmer is in your zone too, you're Spotted.

With five or more turkeys, the farmer's kid comes out to help Dad. The kid wanders, peeks into one hiding spot, and yells "DAD! TURKEY!" at any turkey it finds or sees in the open. That's a "Huh?" token, not Spotted: the kid can't grab you either.

Spotted!

Being Spotted means the farmer has seen you, and he's coming. Turn your turkey token face down.

- At the start of the farmer's next turn, he grabs a Spotted turkey in his zone, and the game ends (below). If several are Spotted there, he grabs the one with the highest urge; on a tie, the one with the lowest card number.
- Until then, the flock has one chance to save you: the rest of the turkeys' turn, if you were Spotted during it, or the whole next turkeys' turn if you were Spotted on his turn or at the end of the round.
- A Spotted turkey's only action is Scram (Chapter 3). A Spotted turkey can't Lend a Wing, and its urge doesn't rise at the end of the round.
- Friends can Gobble for a Friend (Chapter 3), once for each Spotted turkey each round.
- You stop being Spotted when a Scram works, when a friend's Gobble for a Friend works, or when the farmer isn't in your zone at the start of his turn (Grandma called him away, or he carried off the decoy): he's lost sight of you.

GRABBED

When the farmer grabs a turkey, the game ends at once and the whole flock loses. That turkey is gobbled: carried off to the kitchen, tucked under one arm, protesting loudly. Its player gets the last word (below). The only thing that can stop a grab is a decoy (Chapter 6).

EXAMPLE: SAVING DUCHESS

Farmer Bramble wanders into the Big Barn and the Storyteller rolls his search line: the Hayloft. Duchess is in the Hayloft. She rolls to stay hidden, target 3+, with 2 white dice thanks to Still as a Stump (and her red dice don't count): 1, 2. Spotted!

Next turkeys' turn, Duchess tries to Scram first. Her urge is 1, so she Puffs Up (urge 2) for a second white die and rolls 2 white and 2 red: white 2, 3, red 4, 1. Still Spotted. Big Tom is next door in the Chicken Coop. He takes a deep breath and Gobbles for a Friend: his urge goes to 0, and he rolls 2 white dice (Big Gobble): 4, 6. A Great! The farmer spins round, can't tell where that enormous gobble came from, and Duchess is no longer Spotted. Big Tom gets no "Huh?" token at all.

The farmer is still in the barn, though. Duchess should Sneak away next round, and she'll need to roll for it.

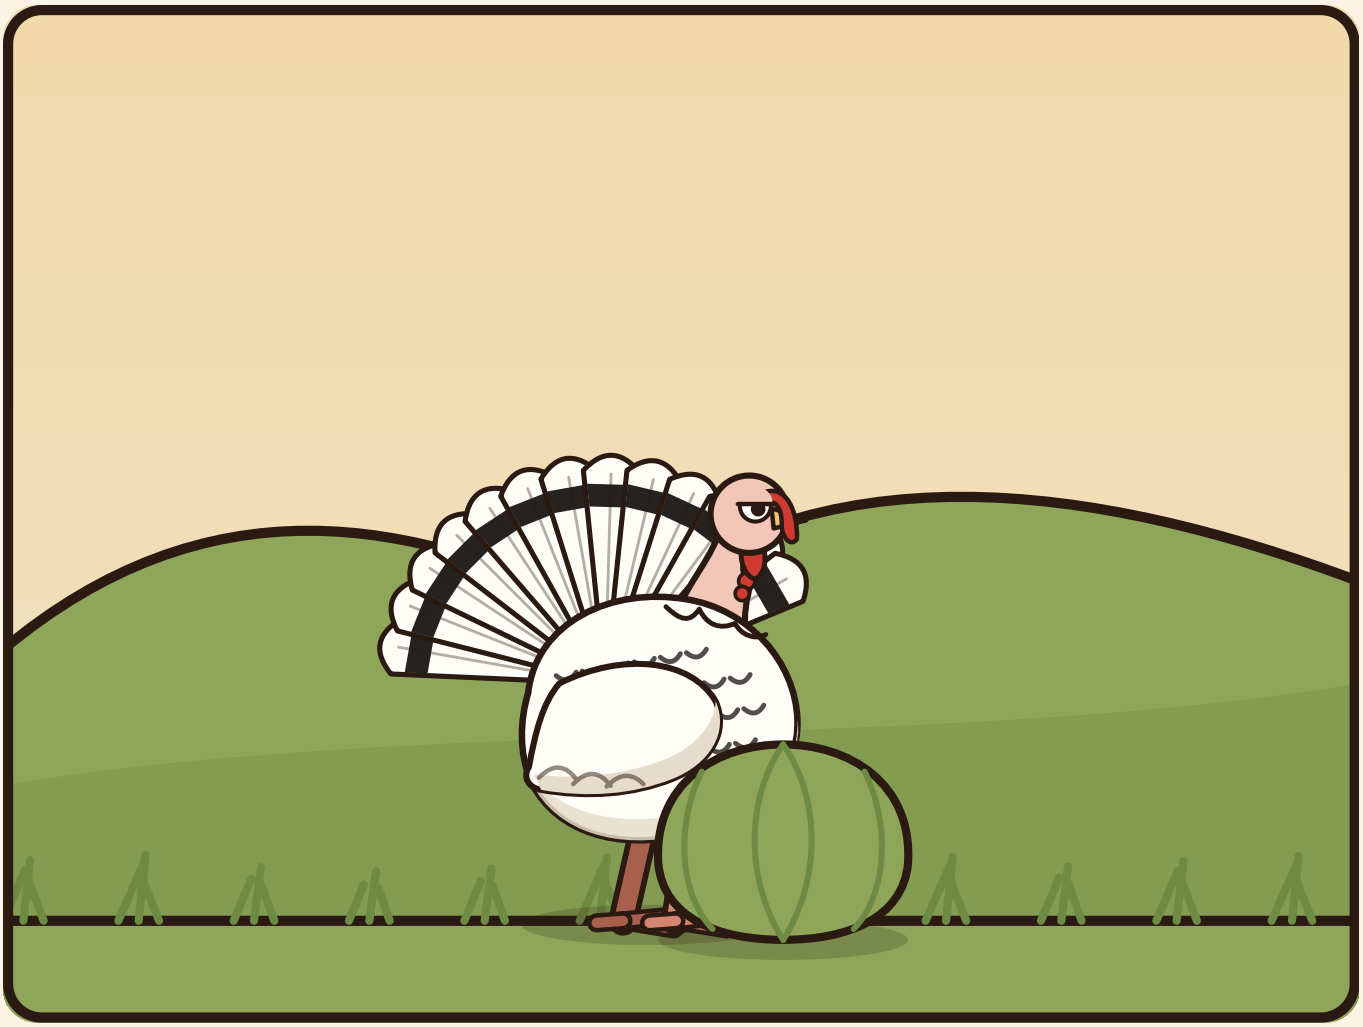

Famous last gobbles

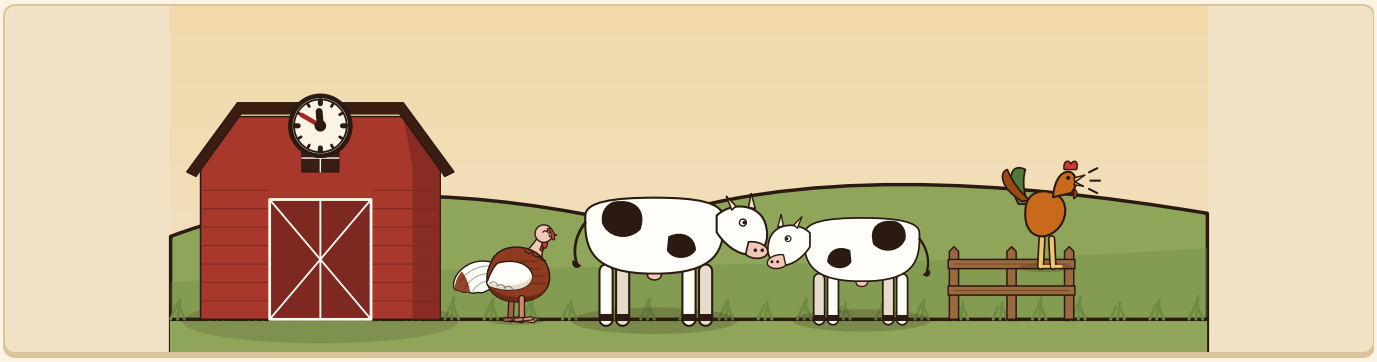

When a turkey gets grabbed, its player rolls a d6 (or makes up something better) for its last words as it's carried off to the kitchen:

D6	LAST WORDS
1	"Tell my feathers I loved them."
2	"I regret NOTHING. Except the gobbling."
3	"Someone tell Grandma I said hi."
4	"Remember me as I was: hiding very, very badly."

D6	LAST WORDS
5	"I'll be back! Next Thanksgiving. Probably."

D6	LAST WORDS
6	"GOBBLE GOBBLE!" (One last time, for the fans.)

CHAPTER 6

Pranks and the Dinner Clock

A TURKEY NEEDS HOURS IN THE OVEN, AND THE FAMILY arrives at four. Every minute the farmer spends chasing goats, mopping up milk or looking for his hat is a minute closer to Too Late. Your job is to waste as many of his minutes as you can.

The Dinner Clock

The Dinner Clock is a countdown track on the Dinner Clock sheet. At the start of the game, put a coin on the space Chapter 8 gives you (with four turkeys on Standard at Bramble Farm, that's 20).

- At the end of every round, it moves down 1 space.
- When a prank happens, it moves down by the prank's number, straight away.
- When it reaches 0, it's Too Late. The farmer looks at his watch, throws his hat on the ground, and gives up. The flock wins at once, even in the middle of a turn, and even if somebody is Spotted.

FARM EVENTS

Every space that's a multiple of 4 (24, 20, 16, 12, 8 and 4) is an EVENT space. Whenever the coin lands on one, or jumps past one, the Storyteller rolls a farm event (Chapter 7): a backfiring truck, a phone call from Grandma, a rake in the grass. Jump past two at once and there are two events, in order. Putting the coin on its starting space doesn't count, even if that's an EVENT space. If a prank moves the clock, roll its events before dealing with that roll's gobble.

Pranks

Every farm has eight pranks, one in each of eight zones, shown with a star on the map. Each one lists:

- its target, the roll you need to Pull the Prank (Chapter 3);
- its boxes: how many times the roll has to work (a Great ticks two);
- its clock number: how far the Dinner Clock moves when it happens;
- anything else it does: loud, detour or decoy.

You can't pull a prank while the farmer is in its zone. When the last box is ticked, the prank happens: move the clock, then do whatever else it says. Each prank happens only once; after that it's done for the game. When every prank is done, the clock still ticks down by itself every round.

LOUD

It makes a terrible racket. Put a "Huh?" token on the prank's zone (not on a spot: when the farmer gets there, he rolls for which spot to check). Pull it, then get out of there.

DETOUR

It gives the farmer something urgent to deal with. On his next turn he doesn't walk the paths: he goes straight to the prank's zone and spends his turn there being busy (rounding up cows, chasing a rowboat). He doesn't search, but turkeys there still have a Close Call, and any "Huh?" tokens in that zone come off. The dog and the kid carry on as normal. If two detours go off before his turn, he goes to the one that went off first; the other waits for the turn after.

DECOY

Each farm has one decoy: a scarecrow, a hay bale or a pumpkin, dressed up as a turkey. When it happens, tick Decoy ready on the Dinner Clock sheet. The next time the farmer would grab a turkey, he grabs the decoy instead: that turkey (and any other turkey he'd spotted there: his arms are full) isn't Spotted any more, he carries the decoy all the way to the Farmhouse (put him there), the clock moves down 2, and he skips the rest of his own turn (no walking, searching or Close Calls). The dog and the kid still take theirs. Then the decoy is gone.

EXAMPLE: TURNING OFF THE OVEN

The Dinner Clock is at 14. Butterbean is in the Farmhouse, and the farmer is far away in the Cornfield. She Pulls a Prank: Turn off the oven, target 5+, two boxes, clock –3. Her urge is 1, so she rolls 2 white dice (Busy Beak) and 1 red: white 5, 2, red 3. It works, and Busy Beak makes the success count twice, so both boxes are ticked at once. The oven goes cold.

The clock jumps from 14 to 11. It passes the EVENT space on 12, so the Storyteller rolls a farm event.

DESIGNER'S NOTE

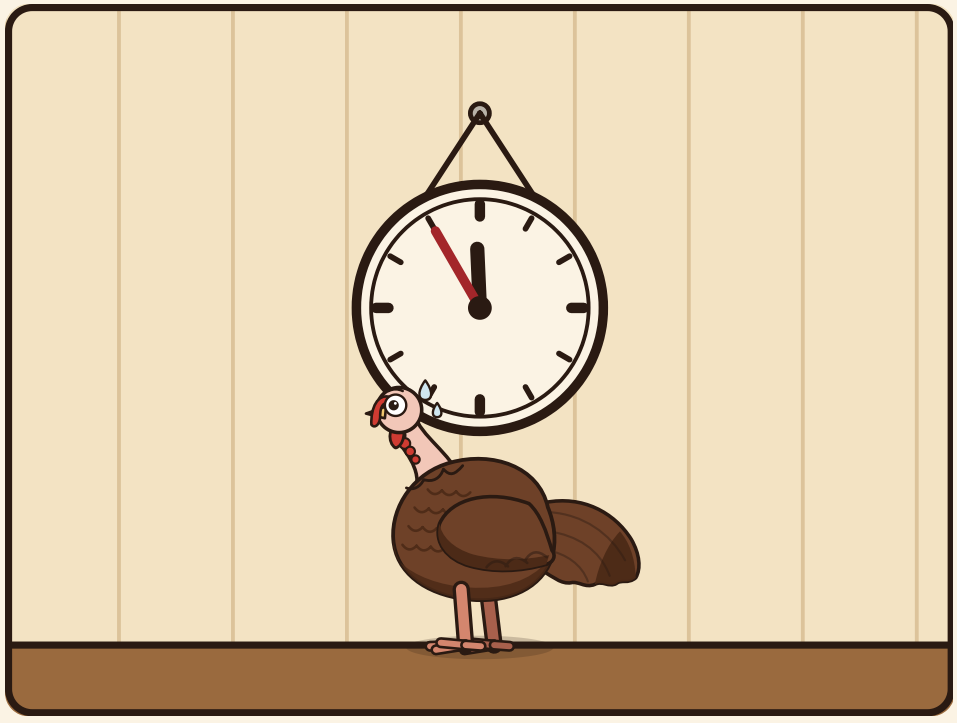

A flock that only hides will usually be found in the end: the clock is long, and every round the farmer looks somewhere new. Pranks are risky, but they're how you get to Too Late before he gets to you. The bigger your flock, the more you need them. Send your calmest turkeys, and keep everyone else out of the farmer's way.

Too Late!

When the clock reaches 0, the farmer trudges back to the house, the family arrives, and someone has to make dinner out of whatever's in the cupboard. The Storyteller rolls a d6 to see what they eat instead, while the flock does a victory strut:

D6	WHAT'S FOR DINNER INSTEAD?
1	Pizza, from the only place still open.
2	Grandma's famous tuna casserole. Nobody is sure about the crackers on top.
3	A mountain of mashed potatoes, with lakes of gravy.
4	Grilled cheese sandwiches for twenty-two.
5	Breakfast for dinner: a tower of pancakes.
6	The vegetable "turkey": a cauliflower in a little paper hat.

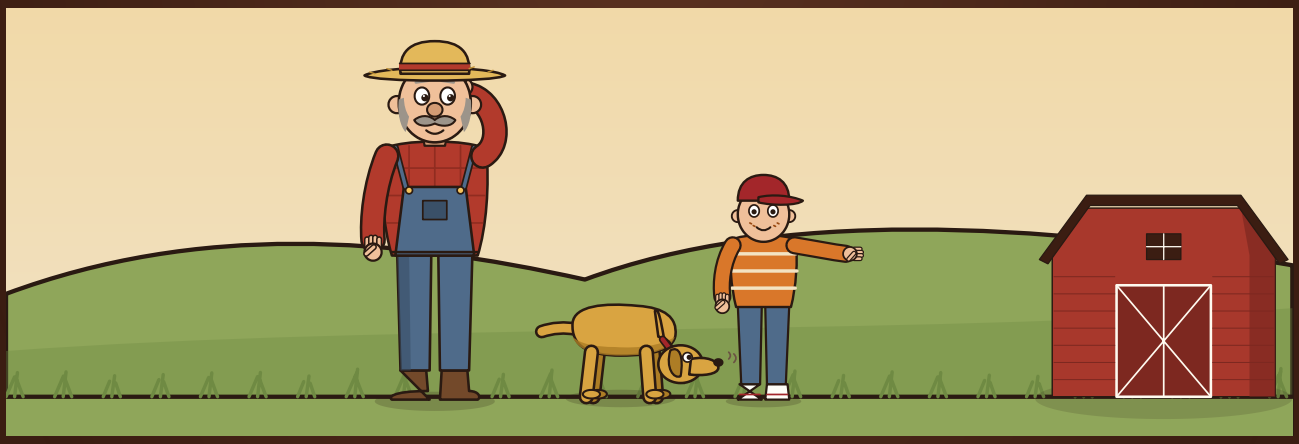

Then the turkeys get the last word: each player says what their turkey does to celebrate.

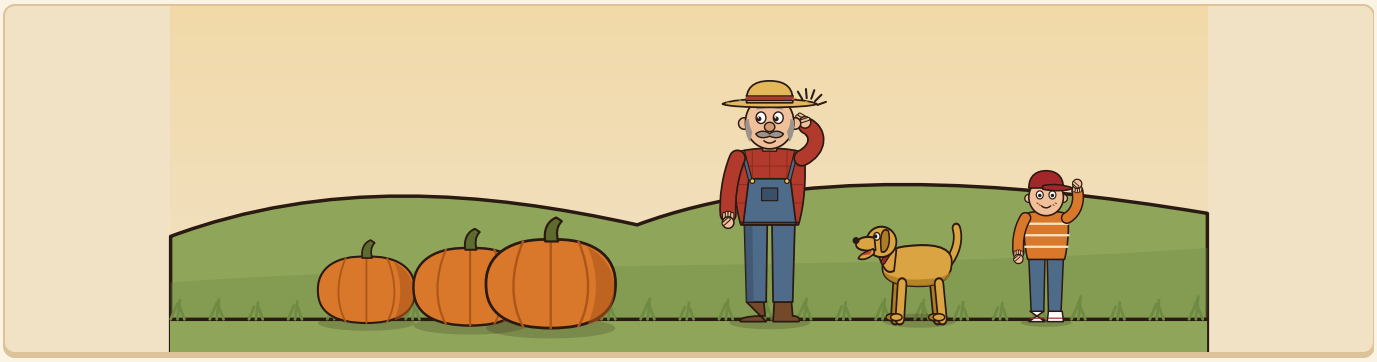

PART TWO

Running the Farm

For the Storyteller: how the farmer, the dog and the kid hunt for turkeys, how to set the difficulty, and three farms ready to play.

CHAPTER 7

Being the Farmer

You are the Storyteller. You run the farmer, the farm dog, the farmer's kid and the farm. You don't decide where the farmer goes or whom he finds: the dice and the farm's tables do that. What you decide is how he sounds. Make him loud, cheerful, determined and a little bit clumsy. He is not a villain. He just really, really wants a turkey.

Your job

- Set up the farm and the clock (Chapter 12 has a checklist).
- Keep the round moving. Let the turkeys plan, then nudge them along: if a turn drags, count down from ten in your best farmer voice. Each player says what their own turkey does.
- Run the farmer's turn exactly as below, and roll in the open so everyone sees the dice.
- Ham it up. Talk to the turkeys you can't see. Sniff the air. Peer into the hayloft. Then roll.
- Rule fairly. If something comes up that the book doesn't cover, pick the answer that's funnier and kinder to the flock, and keep playing.

The farmer's turn

In round 1 the farmer is indoors pulling on his boots: skip his turn entirely (and the dog's, and the kid's). For the whole of round 1 they don't count for anything (Chapter 3), and Hazel's Keen Eye has nothing to see. From round 2's turkeys' turn on, they count as usual. From round 2 on, do these steps in order. "The farmer's turn" always means all six steps, the dog's and the kid's included.

1. GRAB

First, any Spotted turkey that isn't in his zone stops being Spotted: he's lost sight of it. Then, if a Spotted turkey is in the farmer's zone, he grabs it and the game ends: the flock loses. If several Spotted turkeys are there, he grabs the one with the highest urge (if they're tied, the lowest card number). If a decoy is ready (Chapter 6), he grabs that instead, carries it to the Farmhouse (move him there), the clock moves down 2, and you skip steps 2 to 4. Every turkey he had Spotted there goes free: his arms are full. The dog and the kid still take their steps.

2. WALK

Check these in order, and do the first one that applies:

1. Detour. If a detour prank went off since his last turn, put him straight in that prank's zone (if two did, the one that went off first; the other waits for his next turn). He's busy there: skip the search (step 3), but take any "Huh?" tokens in that zone off the map. Go on to step 4.
2. Rake. If he stepped on a rake (a farm event), he doesn't walk this turn. (A detour still moves him, and the rake is used up.)
3. A "Huh?" token. If there's a token anywhere on the farm, he heads for the nearest one (the fewest paths away; if two are equally near, the newest; if they went down at the same moment, you pick). Use the numbered tokens in order, so the highest number out is always the newest. When you need a token and the next number is already on the map, take the tokens on the map and renumber them from 1 in the same order. If all 20 are down, use a coin: it's the newest until the farmer clears it. He walks along the shortest way, up to 2 zones (3 on Hard), and stops as soon as he's in the token's zone. Where two ways are equally short, he takes the first-listed path (in the farm table's "Paths to" column) in each zone where the ways split. A token in his own zone means he stays put and searches.

4. His route. Otherwise, roll a d6 and read his zone's route line in the farm table: he walks to that zone. (If Hazel's Keen Eye has already rolled it this round, use that roll. If the oven has preheated, roll again from his new zone and walk a second zone.)

3. SEARCH

- Every turkey in the open in his zone is Spotted. (Only the zone he ends in: he doesn't spot anyone in zones he walks through.)
- If there are "Huh?" tokens in his zone, he checks every spot they're on. A token on the zone itself (not on a spot) means he rolls his zone's search line for a spot as well.
- If there are no tokens in his zone, roll a d6 on his zone's search line: he checks that one spot.
- After the whole family helps look (a farm event), he checks every spot in the zone this turn.
- Every turkey in a spot he checks rolls to stay hidden, target the spot's cover, one at a time in any order the flock likes. Boosts work as usual, and the flock can spend a Feather on a gobble. If the roll fails, or it gobbles (he's right there), that turkey is Spotted.
- Then take every "Huh?" token in his zone off the map.

4. CLOSE CALLS

Every turkey in his zone that isn't Spotted raises its urge by 1. Two things change this: no Close Calls in Hazel's zone (Keen Eye), and a Scaredy turkey has one from next door too.

5. THE DOG

Only on Standard and Hard. The dog starts in the Farmhouse. Roll a d6.

- 1–2 (1–3 on Hard): it follows its nose one zone toward the nearest turkey (the lowest card number if two are equally near; the first-listed path if two ways are equally short). If that turkey is in its zone already, it stays.
- Otherwise, roll again and read its zone's route line, and send it there.
- Every turkey in the dog's zone that isn't Spotted rolls 4+ to stay hidden, whatever its spot, even in the open. A turkey that fails gets barked at: a "Huh?" token on its spot (or the zone, if it's in the open). The dog never grabs and never makes anyone Spotted itself (a gobble on its roll is still an ordinary gobble).
- Turkeys in the dog's zone have a Close Call, unless the farmer already gave them one this turn.

6. THE KID

Only with 5 or more turkeys. The farmer's kid starts in the Farmhouse.

- Roll a d6 on its zone's route line and move it there.
- If any turkey is in the open there, the kid yells "DAD! TURKEY!": a "Huh?" token on the zone.
- Roll the zone's search line: the kid peeks into that spot. Each turkey in it rolls the spot's cover; if anyone fails, a "Huh?" token goes on that spot.
- The kid never grabs, never makes anyone Spotted itself (a gobble on its roll is still an ordinary gobble), and causes no Close Calls.

The end of the round

After the farmer's turn: move the Dinner Clock down 1 (if it reaches 0, the flock wins; if it lands on an EVENT space, roll the farm event), then every turkey that isn't Spotted raises its urge by 1, and Pip rolls for his hiccups.

Farm events

Roll on this table whenever the Dinner Clock lands on or jumps past an EVENT space (every multiple of 4). An effect "on his next turn" lasts for one farmer's turn. A farm event is its own thing: its urge change applies even if a turkey's urge has just risen for something else, and so do the quirks it sets off. An event rolled during the farmer's turn (from the decoy's clock jump) affects his following turn.

D6	EVENT	WHAT HAPPENS
1	The truck backfires	BANG! Every turkey's urge rises by 1.
2	Grandma calls	The farmer goes straight to the Farmhouse to answer it. Move him there now.
3	The whole family helps look	On his next turn, the farmer checks every hiding spot in the zone he ends in.
4	He steps on a rake	THWACK. On his next turn, the farmer doesn't walk (he still searches his zone).
5	A cold gust	Every turkey fluffs up and huddles down: every turkey's urge falls by 1.
6	The oven is preheated	DING! On his next turn, if the farmer walks his route, he hurries: roll his route die twice and walk two zones.

THINGS THE FARMER SAYS

- "Heeere, turkey turkey turkey!"
- "I know you're in here. I can smell the nervousness."
- "Was that a gobble? That was definitely a gobble."
- "Biscuit! Find the turkey! No, not the squirrel! Biscuit!"
- "Who tipped over my milk pails?!"
- "Gobble back if you can hear me!" (Nobody ever does.)

Questions that come up

DOES THE FARMER CHASE A TOKEN HE WALKS PAST?

He heads for the nearest token and stops when he reaches its zone. Tokens in zones he only walks through stay where they are for later.

A TURKEY MOVED AWAY FROM ITS TOKEN. WHAT NOW?

He goes there anyway and checks the empty spot. That's the point of moving away.

WHAT IF A SPOT IS FULL?

Nobody else can hide there. If no spot in a zone has room, a turkey in that zone is in the open.

CAN A TURKEY WALK INTO THE FARMER'S ZONE?

Yes, with a 4+ Sneak roll (fail it and you're Spotted on the spot). It's cleverer than it looks: on his turn he walks off before he searches, unless a "Huh?" token is in his own zone or he's stepped on a rake. Hiding right behind the farmer is very brave and very funny.

A DETOUR AND A "HUH?" TOKEN AT THE SAME TIME?

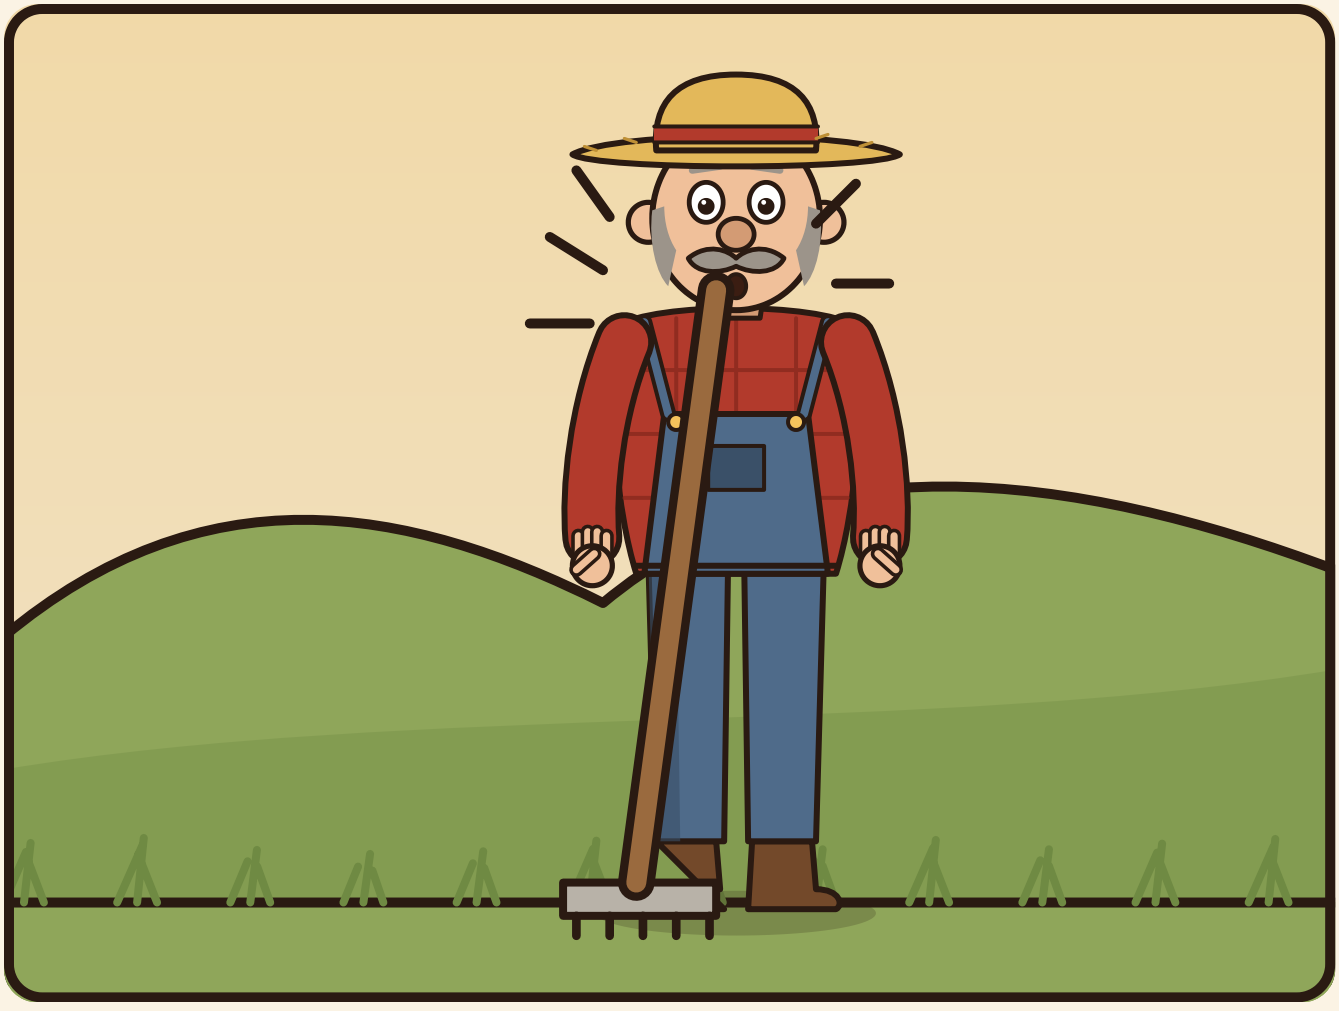

The detour wins: he goes to the detour zone. Tokens elsewhere wait for his next turn.

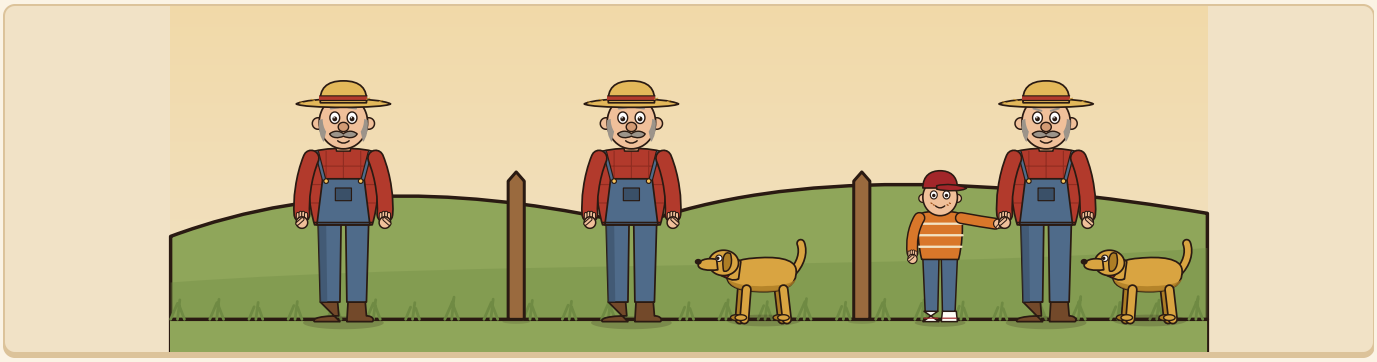

THE CLOCK HITS 0 WHILE A TURKEY IS SPOTTED?

Too Late beats everything. The flock wins.

CAN THE FLOCK GIVE UP?

No. Turkeys never give up. (If the table really has to stop early, call it a draw and eat some pie, but never to dodge a grab.)

CHAPTER 8

Difficulty and Flock Size

Before you start, pick a difficulty and count your turkeys. Together they set where the Dinner Clock starts, how many Feathers the flock gets, and who helps the farmer look.

Difficulty

Difficulty	The dog	The farmer	Clock	Feathers	The flock wins
Easy	Stays indoors	Runs 2 zones to a "Huh?" token	−4	+1	about 9 games in 10 (nearer 8 in 10 with five or more turkeys)
Standard	Follows its nose on 1–2	Runs 2 zones to a "Huh?" token	—	—	about 4 games in 5
Hard	Follows its nose on 1–3	Runs 3 zones to a "Huh?" token, and Scram needs 5+	+2	−1	about 3 games in 5

The last column comes from playing tens of thousands of games by these rules with a computer, with a sensible flock that pranks when it's safe and hides when it isn't. A bolder or more careful flock will do a little better or worse, and a flock that learns to lead the farmer around with "Huh?" tokens will win more often. That's the game working. If your table gets too good at it, move up a difficulty.

- Easy is for a first game, young players, or a table that wants to laugh more than sweat.
- Standard is the game as intended: you'll usually win, and you'll nearly always have a scare.
- Hard is for experienced flocks. Expect to lose a turkey quite often, and expect it to be dramatic.

Where the clock starts

The Dinner Clock starts at 16, plus 1 for every turkey. A small flock of 2 or 3 turkeys takes 2 off; Easy takes 4 off, Hard adds 2; and each farm has its own small adjustment (Puddlewick +1, Windy Ridge +1). This table has done the sums for Bramble Farm:

Turkeys	Easy	Standard	Hard
2	12	16	18
3	13	17	19
4	16	20	22
5	17	21	23
6	18	22	24
7	19	23	25
8	20	24	26

For Puddlewick Farm and Windy Ridge Farm, add 1 to the number in the table.

Feathers

The flock starts with 2 Feathers. A small flock (2 or 3 turkeys) gets 1 more. Easy gives 1 more; Hard takes 1 away.

TURKEYS	EASY	STANDARD	HARD
2 or 3	4	3	2
4 to 8	3	2	1

Big flocks: the farmer's kid

With 5 or more turkeys, the farmer's kid comes out to help (Chapter 7). A big flock has more friends to save each other and more beaks for pranks; the kid keeps it honest.

Small flocks

A flock of 2 or 3 turkeys gets the shorter clock and the extra Feather above. With only 2 turkeys there's just one friend to save you, so every Spotted moment matters: with 2 turkeys, Hard wins only about half the time.

How long a game takes

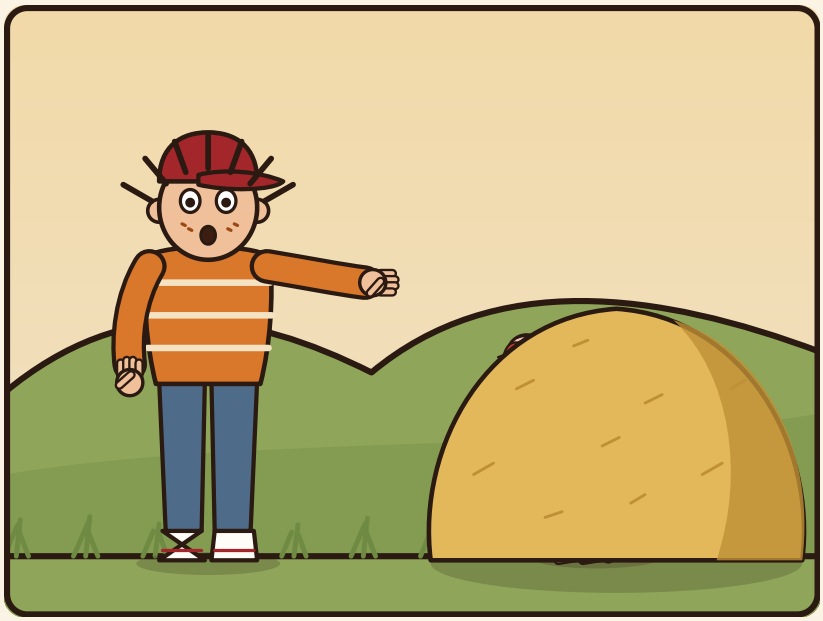

A game lasts about 8 to 13 rounds. Allow about a minute for each turkey and two for the farmer every round, plus 15 minutes to set up and learn:

TURKEYS	ABOUT
2	1 hour
3	1 to 1¼ hours
4	1¼ to 1½ hours
5	1¼ to 1¾ hours
6	1½ to 2 hours
7	1½ to 2 hours
8	about 2 hours (a little more at Puddlewick)

To play faster with a big flock, give everyone ten seconds to choose, or play on Easy.

Choosing a farm

- Bramble Farm (Chapter 9): the friendliest map, best for a first game.
- Puddlewick Farm (Chapter 10): split by a creek, with chokepoints; best with 4 or more turkeys.
- Windy Ridge Farm (Chapter 11): open hillsides where the farmer gets everywhere fast; for flocks that have played before.

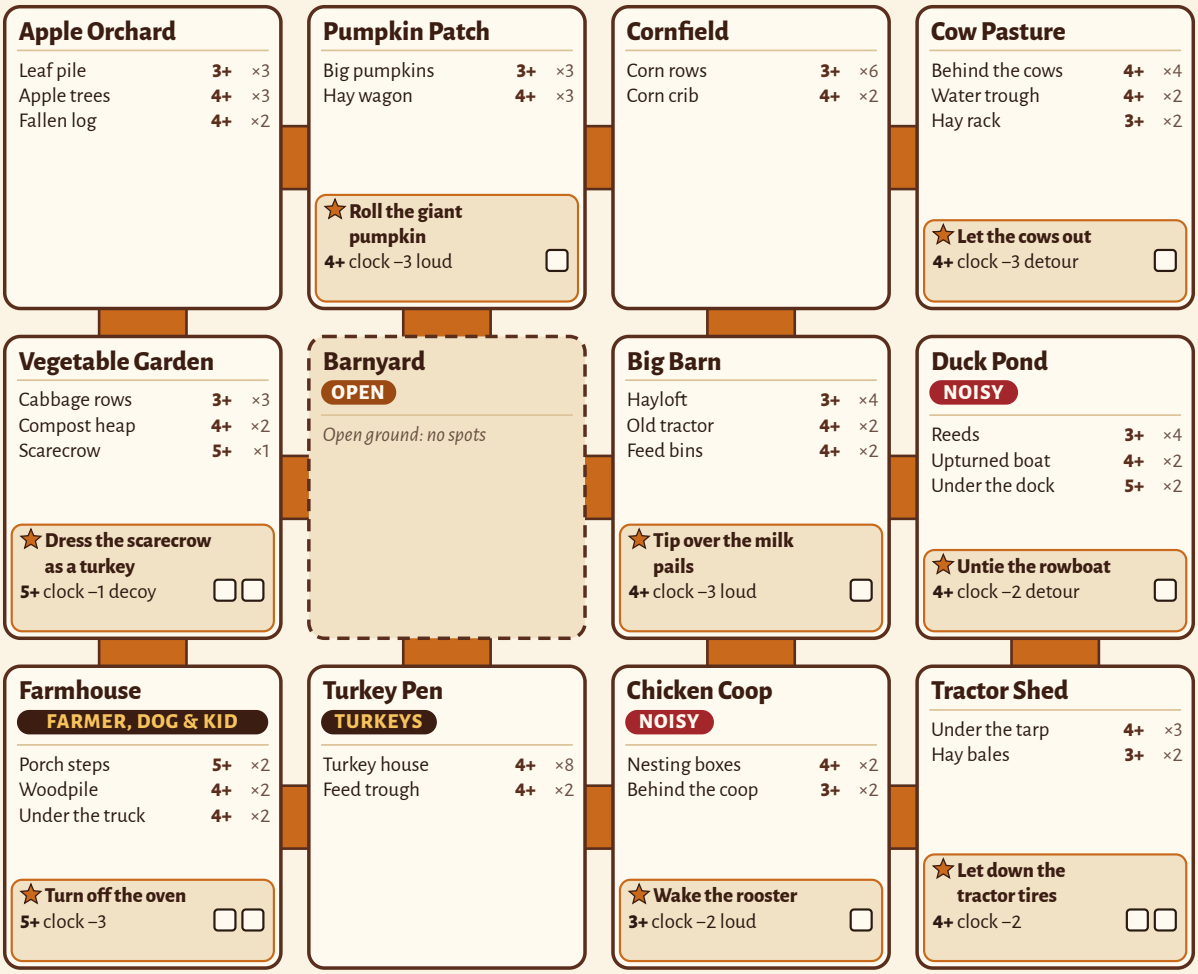

CHAPTER 9

Bramble Farm

Bramble Farm sits at the end of a bumpy lane: a red barn, a white farmhouse, a duck pond, and more pumpkins than anyone needs. It's the best farm for a first game: everything is close together, the paths are easy to follow, and the hiding spots are generous.

The farmer and the dog

Farmer Bramble is big, cheerful and very proud of his prize pumpkin. He wears a hat with earflaps and talks to himself the whole time ("Now where would I hide, if I were a turkey?"). Biscuit is a golden farm dog who loves everyone, especially squirrels.

Bramble Farm. Everyone can look at the map. Print a copy, and tick the prank boxes in pencil.

The pranks

- Turn off the oven. Sneak into the kitchen and peck the big knob back to OFF. Nobody notices for ages, and the oven has to warm up all over again.
- Let the cows out. Lift the latch on the pasture gate. Daisy, Buttercup and Mabel go for a stroll, and the farmer has to herd them back.
- Wake the rooster. Reginald the rooster crows at the top of his lungs. Very loud. Very funny. Very easy to find.

- Dress the scarecrow as a turkey. Feathers, a paper snood and a sign saying "TURKEY". The farmer falls for it, once.
- Tip over the milk pails. SPLOOSH. Milk everywhere, and a lot of mopping.
- Let down the tractor tires. Pssssssst. Now he has to walk everywhere, and find the pump.
- Untie the rowboat. It drifts gently out into the pond. The farmer wades in after it, muttering.
- Roll the giant pumpkin. The prize pumpkin goes bouncing down the hill. Everyone on the farm hears it go.

PRANK	ZONE	TARGET	BOXES	CLOCK	ALSO
Turn off the oven	Farmhouse	5+	2	–3	—
Let the cows out	Cow Pasture	4+	1	–3	Detour (Cow Pasture)
Wake the rooster	Chicken Coop	3+	1	–2	Loud
Dress the scarecrow as a turkey	Vegetable Garden	5+	2	–1	Decoy
Tip over the milk pails	Big Barn	4+	1	–3	Loud
Let down the tractor tires	Tractor Shed	4+	2	–2	—
Untie the rowboat	Duck Pond	4+	1	–2	Detour (Duck Pond)
Roll the giant pumpkin	Pumpkin Patch	4+	1	–3	Loud

Playing Bramble Farm

- Clock adjustment: none (use Chapter 8's table as it is).
- The Barnyard in the middle is open ground: crossing it is quick, but nobody can hide there.
- The Cornfield rows hold six turkeys at 3+: the best group hiding spot on the farm, and the dog's favorite place to sniff.
- The oven is in the Farmhouse, where the farmer and the dog start. It's the biggest prank, and the hardest to reach while he's at home.

The farm table

For the Storyteller. Paths to lists each zone's neighbors in order: when the farmer has two equally short ways to a "Huh?" token, he takes the one listed first. Roll a d6 on the search line to see which spot he (or the kid) checks, and on the route line to see where he (or the dog, or the kid) walks next.

CHAPTER 10

Puddlewick Farm

Puddlewick Farm is wet. A creek runs right through the middle of it, and the only ways across are the old footbridge and a splashy ford by the duck pond. There's a water mill, a greenhouse full of tomatoes, a goat called Old Gertie who has opinions, and mud. So much mud.

The farmer and the dog

Farmer Puddlewick wears bright yellow waders all year round and squelches wherever he goes. Pickles is a very long, very low dachshund with a very good nose.

Puddlewick Farm. Everyone can look at the map. Print a copy, and tick the prank boxes in pencil.

The pranks

- Hide the roasting pan. No pan, no roast. It's under the porch swing now, probably.
- Let the goats loose. Old Gertie leads a daring escape, and the farmer spends his whole turn chasing goats.
- Start a hen party. Twenty hens, all talking at once. The noise carries across the creek.
- Turn on the sprinklers. Every sprinkler in the greenhouse goes off at once. The farmer runs in to turn them off and comes out soaked.

- Jam the water wheel. A well-placed stick, and the mill grinds to a halt. That's going to take a while to fix.
- Gobble up the pie berries. No berries, no pie. Grandma will be furious, and the farmer has to go and pick more.
- Start the duck choir. Quack. QUACK. QUAAAACK. Very loud, very out of tune.
- Dress a hay bale as a turkey. Two pinecone eyes and a red sock for a snood. It's not great, but it only has to work once.

Playing Puddlewick Farm

- Clock adjustment: the clock starts 1 higher than Chapter 8's table says.
- The creek cuts the farm in two. North of it there are only two ways back: the Footbridge and the ford at the Duck Pond. Don't get stuck on the wrong side.
- The Berry Patch is a dead end: one path in, one path out, the same one.
- The Muddy Lane is open ground in the middle of everything.
- Puddlewick is a little kinder to big flocks and harder on small ones: with only 2 turkeys, play it on Easy or Standard.

The farm table

For the Storyteller. Paths to lists each zone's neighbors in order: when the farmer has two equally short ways to a "Huh?" token, he takes the one listed first. Roll a d6 on the search line to see which spot he (or the kid) checks, and on the route line to see where he (or the dog, or the kid) walks next.

CHAPTER 11

Windy Ridge Farm

Windy Ridge Farm is perched on a hilltop where the wind never stops. There's a creaky windmill, a meadow full of sheep, a pigsty, and great open slopes where a turkey can be seen from a mile away. Every zone joins up with its neighbors, so the farmer can get anywhere fast.

The farmer and the dog

Farmer Windle is tall, cheerful and has been chasing his hat across this hilltop for thirty years. Moose is an enormous shaggy sheepdog who herds everything, including turkeys, chickens and occasionally the farmer.

Path: you can Sneak this way. No path, no way through.
Pumpkin pile 3+ ×4: a hiding spot; roll 3+ to stay hidden; room for 4 turkeys.
FARMER, DOG & KID, TURKEYS: where they start the game.
Prank: its target, clock jump, and boxes.
NOISY: Sneak in on 3+. OPEN: no spots.

Windy Ridge Farm. Everyone can look at the map. Print a copy, and tick the prank boxes in pencil.

The pranks

- Unplug the oven. Pull the plug and push it behind the cupboard. It'll be ages before anyone notices.
- Send his hat up the windmill. Hook the farmer's best hat onto a windmill sail. Up it goes. Round it goes. He has to get it back.
- Stampede the sheep. One very loud gobble in the middle of the flock, and the sheep go everywhere.

- Carve a pumpkin turkey. A big orange body, a stick neck, a pumpkin-leaf tail. From a distance, it's a turkey.
- Hide the tractor keys. Somewhere in the hay. Good luck, Farmer Windle.
- Let the pigs loose. Eight muddy pigs, one gate. The farmer spends his turn chasing them round the yard.
- Let down the truck tires. No truck, no trip to the store for a spare turkey.
- Shake the apple trees. Apples everywhere, thumping on the ground like a drum.

Playing Windy Ridge Farm

- Clock adjustment: the clock starts 1 higher than Chapter 8's table says.
- The Hilltop and the Driveway are open ground, and every zone has paths to all its neighbors: the farmer gets around quickly.
- The Sheep Meadow has one huge spot, Among the sheep (3+, room for six). It's noisy getting in, and the whole flock in one spot is a lot of turkeys for one bad roll.
- The Pigsty is noisy too, and the pigs don't mind sharing.

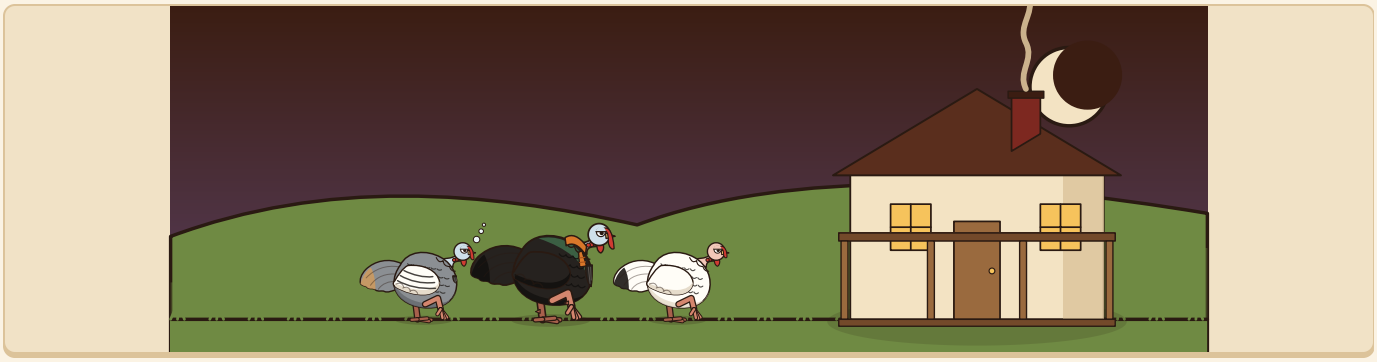

The farm table

For the Storyteller. Paths to lists each zone's neighbors in order: when the farmer has two equally short ways to a "Huh?" token, he takes the one listed first. Roll a d6 on the search line to see which spot he (or the kid) checks, and on the route line to see where he (or the dog, or the kid) walks next.

CHAPTER 12

Your First Night

Never played before? This chapter gets you from an empty table to a farmer in his boots in about fifteen minutes. For a first game, play Bramble Farm on Easy with 3 to 5 turkeys.

What to print

- The map of your farm (Chapter 9, 10 or 11), one copy for the middle of the table, and the farm table (the last pages of the same chapter) for the Storyteller.
- A turkey card for each player (the sheets at the back).
- The Dinner Clock sheet and the tokens sheet. Cut the tokens and turkey cards out before game night, or use coins and buttons for the tokens.
- The At the Table sheet: one for every two players.
- The Storyteller's Card, for the Storyteller.

Everything works in black and white: nothing in this game is shown by color alone.

What you need

- 3 white dice (action dice), 5 red dice (gobble dice), 1 helper die of a third color, and 1 die for the Storyteller. All are ordinary six-sided dice. If you have no red dice, any color that's different from the white ones will do.
- A coin or paperclip for each turkey's urge, and a coin for the Dinner Clock.
- A pencil for the prank boxes.

Setting up

1. Choose a farm and a difficulty (Chapter 8).
2. Lay out the map. Put the farmer in the Farmhouse. On Standard and Hard, put the dog there too. With 5 or more turkeys, the kid as well.
3. Choose turkeys (Chapter 2). Each player takes the card and puts a coin on urge 1.
4. Put every turkey in the Turkey house, in the Turkey Pen. They all start hidden.
5. Set the Dinner Clock to its starting space (Chapter 8).
6. Put the flock's Feathers in the middle, where everyone can reach them (Chapter 8).
7. Put the "Huh?" tokens and the decoy next to the Storyteller.
8. Hand out the dice. They go round the table to whoever is rolling.
9. Read the whole game in one breath (Chapter 1) out loud.
10. Start round 1. The farmer is indoors pulling on his boots, so the flock gets a free turn to scatter.

Teaching it in five minutes

SAY THIS

"It's Thanksgiving, you're turkeys, and the farmer wants one of you for dinner. If he grabs anyone, we all lose. If we stall him until this clock hits zero, it's too late to cook, and we all win.

"Every round, each of you does one thing: sneak to the next zone, hunker down and calm down, pull a prank to waste his time, or gobble to save a friend. When you roll, the white die is what you're trying to do; you need the target, like 4+. You also roll a red die for every point of your urge. Any red six and you gobble. Out loud, please. Gobbling tells the farmer where you are.

"If he finds you, you're Spotted. You get one chance to run, and your friends get one chance to distract him, before he grabs you next turn. Feathers can swallow a gobble, but we don't have many. Right: he's putting his boots on. Scatter!"

Then teach everything else as it comes up. The At the Table sheet has it all on one page.

EXAMPLE OF PLAY: THE FIRST THREE ROUNDS

Setup. Bramble Farm, Easy, three turkeys: Pip, Duchess and Big Tom. The Dinner Clock starts on 13 and the flock has 4 Feathers.

Round 1. The farmer is indoors. Pip uses Soft Steps to Sneak two zones, through the Barnyard into the Pumpkin Patch, and hides in the Big pumpkins: with the farmer indoors and nothing Noisy on the way, there's nothing to roll. Big Tom Sneaks into the Chicken Coop. It's Noisy, so he rolls 3+: white 4, red 2. He hides Behind the coop. Duchess Hunkers Down in the Turkey house (urge 1 to 0).

End of the round: the clock moves to 12, an EVENT space. The event is a cold gust: everyone's urge goes down 1 (as far as 0). Then everyone's urge goes up 1, so all three are at 1. Pip rolls his hiccup die: a 3, no hiccup.

Round 2. The farmer is out on the porch now. Pip Pulls a Prank: Roll the giant pumpkin, 4+, one box. White 5, red 2. It works! The clock jumps from 12 to 9, and because the prank is loud, a "Huh?" token goes on the Pumpkin Patch.

Duchess wants out of the pen before the farmer looks there. The farmer is next door, so her Sneak to the Chicken Coop needs 4+: white 6, red 3. A Great: she can keep going one more zone, because a Sneak from the Coop to the Tractor Shed wouldn't need a roll (the farmer isn't in or next to either, and the shed isn't Noisy). She hides Under the tarp, and then, being a Show-off, she strikes a pose: a second "Huh?" token goes on Under the tarp. Big Tom Hunkers Down (urge 1 to 0).

Farmer's turn: nobody is Spotted, so no grab. There are two tokens, both three zones away, so he heads for the newer one, Duchess's, two zones: Farmhouse to Turkey Pen (the first path listed) to Chicken Coop. He hasn't reached it yet. There's no token in the Coop, so the Storyteller rolls its search line: 2, the Nesting boxes. Empty. Big Tom, Behind the coop, has a Close Call (urge 0 to 1). End of the round: the clock moves to 8, another EVENT space. The event is "The whole family helps look". Urges rise: Pip 2, Duchess 2, Big Tom 2. Pip's hiccup die: a 5, phew.

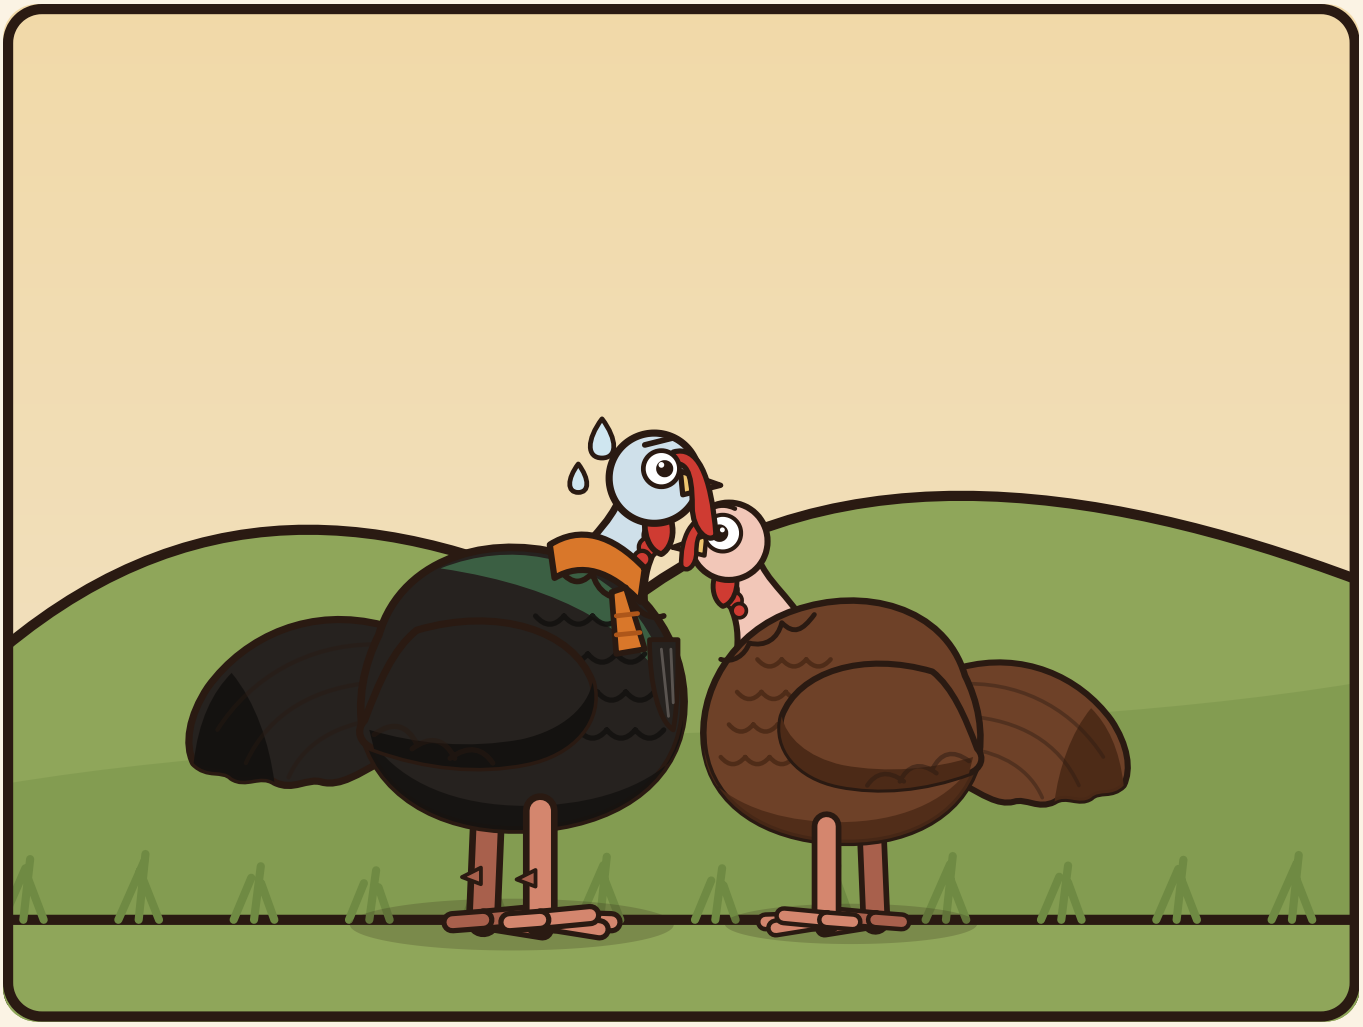

Round 3. The farmer is in the Chicken Coop with Big Tom, and Duchess's token is next door: next turn he'll check every spot in the Tractor Shed. Duchess has to go. The farmer is next to the shed, so it's a 4+ roll into the Noisy Duck Pond: white 5, red 2, 3. She slips into the Reeds.

Big Tom Sneaks out of the farmer's own zone into the Big Barn, 4+: white 4, red 1, 6. He makes it to the Hayloft, but he gobbles. A token there would be just as near the farmer as Duchess's old one, and newer, so he'd come straight to the barn. The flock spends a Feather (4 to 3): no gobble, no token. Pip, far away, Sneaks from the Pumpkin Patch to the Apple Orchard with nothing to roll and hides in the Leaf pile.

Farmer's turn: the Tractor Shed token is one zone away and the Pumpkin Patch token three, so he goes to the shed and, with the whole family helping, checks every spot there. Both are empty. "Who's been posing in my tractor shed?!" End of the round: the clock moves to 7. Urges rise: Pip 3, Duchess 3, Big Tom 3. Pip's hiccup die: a 2. Everyone should Hunker Down soon, and the old token is still waiting in the Pumpkin Patch.

After the game

Win or lose, finish with the last word: the gobbled turkey's famous last gobble (Chapter 5), or what's for dinner instead (Chapter 6). Then swap Storytellers, pick another farm, and see you next Thanksgiving.

CHAPTER 13

Farm Words

Every word the rules use in a special way, in one place. Each term means only this, everywhere in the book.

Action
What a turkey does on the turkeys' turn: Sneak, Hunker Down, Pull a Prank, Gobble for a Friend, Scram or Let It Out. One per turkey per round (Chapter 3).

Boost
One extra white die on a roll: a knack, Lend a Wing or Puff Up. Never more than 3 white dice (Chapter 3).

Boxes
The tick boxes on a prank. A roll that works ticks one (a Great ticks two); when they're all ticked, the prank happens (Chapter 6).

Close Call
The farmer (or the dog) ends his turn in your zone and you aren't Spotted: +1 urge (Chapter 4).

Cover
The roll a hiding spot needs to stay hidden in it, from 3+ to 5+ (Chapter 5).

Decoy
A prank that makes a fake turkey. The next time the farmer would grab a turkey, he grabs the decoy instead (Chapter 6).

Detour
A prank that sends the farmer straight to its zone on his next turn, too busy to search (Chapter 6).

Difficulty
Easy, Standard or Hard: it sets the dog, how far the farmer runs, the Scram target, the clock and the Feathers (Chapter 8).

Dinner Clock
The countdown to Too Late. It moves down 1 at the end of every round, and further when a prank happens (Chapter 6).

Dog
The farm dog (Standard and Hard). It sniffs out turkeys and barks, but never grabs (Chapter 7).

EVENT space
A space on the Dinner Clock that's a multiple of 4. Landing on or passing one means a farm event (Chapter 6).

Farm event
A d6 roll on the events table whenever the clock lands on or passes a multiple of 4 (Chapter 7).

Feather
A flock token. Spend one after a roll to cancel a gobble from the dice (Chapter 4).

Flock
All the turkeys in the game, played by the players. The flock wins or loses together.

Full urge
Urge 5. Anything that would raise it makes you gobble instead (Chapter 4).

Gobble
A turkey gobbling: from a red 6 (or a 6 on the helper die, for the helper), from a full urge, or on purpose. Its urge goes to 0, and the farmer hears it (Chapter 4).

Gobble for a Friend
Gobble on purpose to turn the farmer's head away from a Spotted friend (Chapter 3).

Grab
The first step of the farmer's turn: he grabs a Spotted turkey in his zone, and the game ends (Chapter 7).

Great
A 6 on any white die. The roll works, with a bonus for some actions (Chapter 3).

Helper die
The die of a third color that a friend rolls when Lending you a Wing. A 6 on it makes the friend gobble (Chapter 3).

Hidden
In a hiding spot (Chapter 5).

Hiding spot
A place in a zone where turkeys can hide, with a cover and a room (Chapter 5).

"Huh?" token
A marker for something the farmer heard. He heads for the nearest one and checks its spot (Chapters 5 and 7).

Hunker Down
Stay put, hide if you can, and lower your urge or a friend's by 2 (Chapter 3).

In the open
In a zone but not in a hiding spot. When the farmer searches the zone he ends in, he spots everyone in the open there (Chapter 5).

Kid
The farmer's kid (5 or more turkeys). It peeks into spots and yells for Dad, but never grabs (Chapter 7).

Knack
A turkey's special talent (Chapter 2).

Lend a Wing
A friend in your zone adds a white die to your roll and rolls the helper die; a 6 on it makes the friend gobble. Once per round per turkey (Chapter 3).

Let It Out
Gobble on purpose, to reset your urge or lure the farmer (Chapter 3).

Loud
A prank that puts a "Huh?" token on its zone when it happens (Chapter 6).

Next to
Joined by a path. Zones that touch on the map without a path aren't next to each other (Chapter 5).

Noisy
A zone that takes a 3+ roll to Sneak into, even when the farmer is far away (Chapter 3).

Open zone
A zone with no hiding spots (Chapter 5).

Path
A way between two zones, shown on the map. You can only Sneak along a path.

Prank
A trick that wastes the farmer's time. Fill its boxes and the clock jumps (Chapter 6).

Puff Up
Raise your own urge by 1 before a roll for an extra white die. Not at urge 5, and not when you Gobble for a Friend (Chapter 3).

Pull a Prank
Roll to tick a prank's boxes (Chapters 3 and 6).

Quirk
A turkey's nervous habit (Chapter 2).

Red dice
The gobble dice: one per point of your urge. Any red 6 is a gobble (Chapter 3).

Room
How many turkeys fit in a hiding spot (Chapter 5).

Round
The turkeys' turn, the farmer's turn and the end of the round, in that order (Chapter 3).

Route line
The d6 line in a farm table that says where the farmer (or the dog, or the kid) walks next from a zone (Chapter 7).

Scram
A Spotted turkey's run for it (Chapter 3).

Search line
The d6 line in a farm table that says which hiding spot the farmer (or the kid) checks in a zone (Chapter 7).

Sneak
Move along a path to the next zone, and hide there if you can (Chapter 3).

Spotted
Seen by the farmer. If he's in your zone at the start of his next turn, he grabs you, unless a Scram or a Gobble for a Friend works first or the decoy takes your place (Chapter 5).

Storyteller
The person who runs the farmer, the dog, the kid and the farm (Chapter 7).

Target
The number a roll's highest white die must reach, written like 4+ (Chapter 3).

Too Late
The Dinner Clock at 0. The flock wins at once (Chapter 6).

Urge
How close a turkey is to gobbling, from 0 to 5 (Chapter 4).

White dice
The action dice. Your highest white die decides whether a roll works (Chapter 3).

Works, fails
A roll works when its highest white die is at or above the target, and fails when it isn't (Chapter 3).

Zone
One area of the farm: the Big Barn, the Duck Pond and so on (Chapter 5).

At the Table

Everything a turkey needs, on one page. Chapter numbers say where each rule is in full.

Win and lose

Win: the Dinner Clock reaches 0 (Too Late) with nobody grabbed. Lose: the farmer grabs one turkey. The flock wins or loses together.

The round (Ch 3)

1. Turkeys: each turkey takes one action, in any order. In round 1 the farmer doesn't count, and nobody goes into the Farmhouse.
2. Farmer: grab, walk, search, Close Calls, dog, kid. Not in round 1 (he's indoors).
3. End: clock –1 (0 = win; on an EVENT space, the farm event), then every turkey that isn't Spotted gets +1 urge, then Pip's hiccups.

The roll (Ch 3)

- 1 white die + 1 red die per point of urge.
- Highest white at or above the target: works. Any white 6: Great.
- Any red 6: you gobble (once). The result comes first, then the gobble.

Boosts: +1 white die each, 3 at most

- Knack (your card).
- Lend a Wing: one friend in your zone, once per round, not Spotted. They roll the helper die: a 6 makes them gobble (both 6s: two gobbles).
- Puff Up: +1 urge first. Not at urge 5, not to Gobble for a Friend.

The urge (Ch 4)

- 0 to 5, start at 1. +1: end of round, Close Call, Puff Up, quirks, events. Apart from Puff Up and events, at most once per action, per farmer's turn, per end of round.
- Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather). At 5 in the farmer's zone, his Close Call does it: Hunker Down first.

A gobble (Ch 4)

- Say it out loud. Urge goes to 0.
- Farmer in your zone: Spotted. Otherwise a "Huh?" token on your spot (the zone if you're in the open).
- Feather: cancels one gobble from the dice. Not a full-urge gobble, not one on purpose.

Actions (Ch 3)

- Sneak: one zone along a path, then hide if there's room. 4+ if the farmer is in or next to either zone; else 3+ into a Noisy zone; else no roll. Fail: you still go, but you're Spotted (farmer there) or get a "Huh?" token. Great: one more zone if it needs no roll.
- Hunker Down: hide if you can (4+ in front of the farmer, fail = Spotted), then –2 urge for you or a friend in your zone.
- Pull a Prank: in its zone, not with the farmer there. Roll its target; tick a box (Great: two). All boxes: it happens.
- Gobble for a Friend: a Spotted friend in or next to your zone, once per round each. Urge to 0, no red dice, 4+: they're free. Either way you're Spotted (farmer in your zone) or get a "Huh?" token, unless Great.
- Scram (Spotted only, and the only thing you can do): 4+ (Hard 5+): run one zone, hide, not Spotted. Great: one more zone.
- Let It Out: gobble on purpose. Urge to 0, "Huh?" token on your spot (or zone, if you're in the open).

Spotted (Ch 5)

- Your friends get one chance: the rest of this turkeys' turn, or all of the next one if he spotted you on his turn.
- Grabbed at the start of the farmer's next turn if he's still in your zone. Game over (unless the decoy is ready). If he isn't in your zone then, you're free.
- Get free with Scram, or a friend's Gobble for a Friend.

Where he goes (Ch 7)

- The nearest "Huh?" token (newest on a tie), up to 2 zones (Hard 3). With no token, his route line in the farm table.

Hiding (Ch 5)

- Spot 3+ ×4: roll 3+ to stay hidden when he checks it; room for 4.
- In the open: Spotted when he searches the zone he ends in (not zones he walks through).
- Close Call: he (or the dog) ends in your zone and you aren't Spotted: +1 urge.
- Next to = joined by a path. No moving between spots in one zone: Sneak out.

The Storyteller's Card

Run the farm by the dice. Ham it up. Chapter 7 has every step in full.

Setting up (Ch 8)

- Clock: 16 + 1 per turkey. 2–3 turkeys –2. Easy –4, Hard +2. Puddlewick +1, Windy Ridge +1.
- Feathers: 2. 2–3 turkeys +1. Easy +1, Hard –1.
- Farmhouse: the farmer; the dog (Standard, Hard); the kid (5+ turkeys).
- Turkeys: all in the Turkey Pen, urge 1. In round 1 the farmer, dog and kid don't count.

Difficulty

- Easy: no dog.
- Standard: dog follows its nose on 1–2.
- Hard: nose on 1–3; farmer runs 3 zones to a "Huh?"; Scram 5+.

The farmer's turn (not round 1)

1. Grab: Spotted turkeys not in his zone get away. A Spotted turkey in his zone (highest urge; tie: lowest card number): game over. Decoy ready? He grabs it, goes to the Farmhouse, clock –2, skip steps 2–4.
2. Walk, the first that applies:
   - Detour: straight to the prank's zone (two? the first); no search; clear its tokens; go to step 4.
   - Rake: no walking.
   - "Huh?" token: toward the nearest (newest = highest number on a tie), up to 2 zones (Hard 3), first-listed path on a tie.
   - Route: d6 on his zone's route line (Keen Eye: already rolled). Oven: walk twice.
3. Search (whole family: every spot): everyone in the open there is Spotted. Check the spots with tokens (a token on the zone: roll the search line too); no token: d6 on the search line. Each turkey in a checked spot rolls its cover: fail or gobble = Spotted. Clear the zone's tokens.
4. Close Calls: +1 urge to everyone in his zone who isn't Spotted. Not in Keen Eye's zone; Scaredy from next door too.
5. Dog (Standard, Hard): d6. 1–2 (Hard 1–3): one zone toward the nearest turkey (stays if it's there). Else roll again on its route line. Every turkey there that isn't Spotted rolls 4+; a fail is a "Huh?" on that spot. Close Call if they haven't had one.
6. Kid (5+ turkeys): d6 on its route line. Anyone in the open: "Huh?" on the zone. d6 on the search line: those turkeys roll the cover; any fail, "Huh?" on that spot. No Close Calls.

End of the round

Clock –1 (0 = Too Late: the flock wins; on an EVENT space, roll the farm event). Then +1 urge for every turkey that isn't Spotted. Then Pip rolls a red die (6 = hic! gobble).

Farm events: on or past each EVENT space (multiples of 4)

1	Truck backfires: every turkey +1 urge.
2	Grandma calls: farmer to the Farmhouse now.
3	Whole family helps look: next turn he checks every spot in his zone.
4	Steps on a rake: next turn he doesn't walk.
5	Cold gust: every turkey –1 urge.
6	Oven preheated: next turn, on his route, he walks two zones.

Pranks (Ch 6)

- Clock jumps by its number. Loud: "Huh?" on its zone. Detour: next turn, straight there, no search. Decoy: the next grab grabs it.

The ending

Too Late: roll "What's for dinner instead?" (Ch 6). A grab: the gobbled turkey rolls its famous last gobble (Ch 5).

Say it

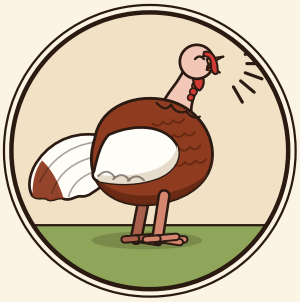

"Heeere, turkey turkey turkey!" · "Was that a gobble?" · "I know you're in here…"

Turkey Cards (1 of 2)

Butterbean

1

Bourbon Red hen

Knack: Busy Beak. +1 white die when you pull a Prank, and when the roll works it ticks two boxes.

Quirk: Chatterbox. +1 urge after any roll where you Lend a Wing, or a friend Lends you one.

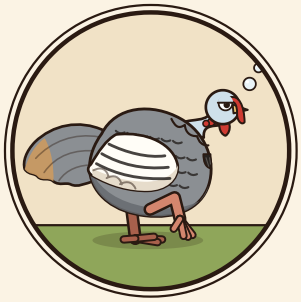

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Pip

2

Narragansett jake (a young male)

Knack: Soft Steps. +1 white die when you Sneak, and one Sneak can take you two zones (one roll covers both).

Quirk: Hiccups. At the end of every round, roll one red die: on a 6 you gobble (hic!).

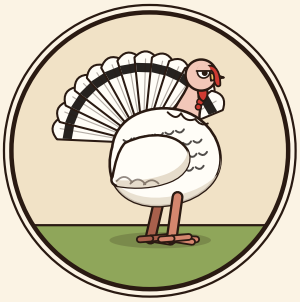

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Duchess

3

Royal Palm hen

Knack: Still as a Stump. +1 white die when the farmer, the dog or the kid checks your spot, and your red dice don't count on those rolls.

Quirk: Show-off. Whenever you roll a Great, you strike a pose: a "Huh?" token goes on your spot (or your zone, if you're in the open). A pose struck while the farmer searches stays down after he clears his tokens, so he'll be back.

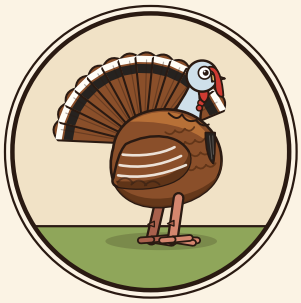

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Big Tom

4

Bronze tom

Knack: Big Gobble. +1 white die when you Gobble for a Friend, and you can do it from two zones away (two paths).

Quirk: Scaredy. A Close Call happens to you when the farmer or the dog ends in your zone or next to it.

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

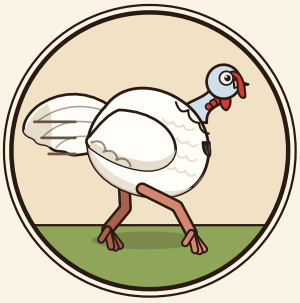

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Turkey Cards (2 of 2)

Noodle

5

White Holland jake (a young male)

Knack: Quick Feet. +1 white die when you Scram, and a Scram that works can take you two zones (three on a Great).

Quirk: Restless. You can't Hunker Down two rounds in a row.

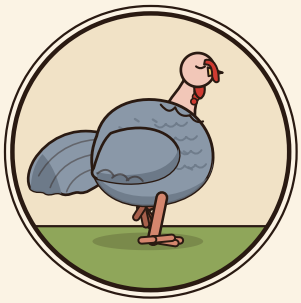

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Clementine

6

Blue Slate hen

Knack: Cool Head. Hunker Down lowers your urge, or a friend's, by 3 instead of 2.

Quirk: Fussy. +1 urge whenever you end an action sharing a hiding spot, or another turkey squeezes into yours.

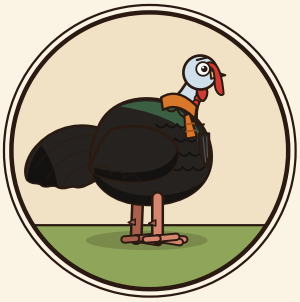

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Gizmo

7

Black Spanish tom

Knack: Mother Hen. When you Hunker Down, every other turkey in your zone lowers its urge by 1 too.

Quirk: Worrywart. +1 urge whenever another turkey is Spotted.

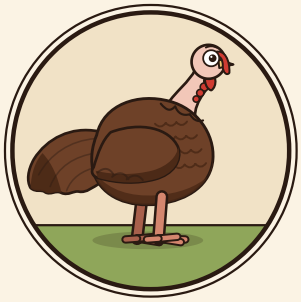

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

Hazel

8

Chocolate hen

Knack: Keen Eye. From round 2, at the start of the turkeys' turn, the Storyteller rolls the farmer's route die and tells the flock where he'll walk if nothing else (a detour, a rake or a "Huh?" token) decides it. If he's moved first, read the roll on his new zone's route line. Close Calls don't raise the urge of turkeys in your zone.

Quirk: Jumpy. +1 urge whenever another turkey gobbles.

URGE 0 1 2 3 4 5

Start at urge 1. Red dice = your urge. Past 5: gobble, back to 0 (no Feather can stop it).

The Dinner Clock

Put a coin on the starting space (Chapter 8). It moves down 1 at the end of every round, and further when a prank happens. On an EVENT space, or jumping past one, the Storyteller rolls a farm event.

27	26	25	24 EVENT	23	22
21	20 EVENT	19	18	17	16 EVENT
15	14	13	12 EVENT	11	10
9	8 EVENT	7	6	5	4 EVENT
3	2	1	TOO LATE! THE FLOCK WINS

Feathers

(cross one off when it's spent)

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐

Decoy ready

(tick when it's made; cross out when it's used)

☐

Next farmer's turn

Rake: doesn't walk ☐
Whole family: every spot ☐
Oven: two zones ☐
Detour to: _____

Too Late beats everything: the moment the coin reaches it, the flock wins, even in the middle of a turn.

Tokens

Cut these out, or use coins and buttons. Turn a turkey face down when it's Spotted. Put the "Huh?" tokens down in number order, so the highest number out is the newest. When the next number is already on the map, renumber the tokens there from 1 in the same order. If all 20 are down, use a coin as the newest.

Feather

One turkey is going in the oven. Not on our watch.

It's Thanksgiving morning, and the farmer is looking for a turkey. Any turkey. You and your friends are the turkeys.

Hide in the hayloft. Sneak behind the cows. Let the goats loose, turn off the oven and dress the scarecrow up as a turkey. Do anything to stall the farmer until it's too late to cook, and whatever you do, don't gobble. Every roll comes with a red die for each nervous jitter, and a single six gives you away.

If the farmer grabs anyone, the whole flock loses. That's not how turkeys roll.
